

Wife Disarms Man After He Shoots Mother To Death

Mrs. Will Anderson, Griswoldville Planter's Wife, Victim of Man Said To Be Atlantan.

WEAPON SEIZED AFTER STRUGGLE

Slayer Wanders Into Fields and Found Asleep After Search by Jones County Sheriff.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Griswoldville, Ga., April 28.—John Batchelor, said to be a resident of Atlanta, shot and killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Will Anderson, wife of a prominent farmer, this morning, and then attempted to kill his wife, according to Jones county officers. Batchelor's wife disarmed him in a hand-to-hand struggle.

Following the shooting Batchelor wandered away to the fields, where Sheriff J. C. Middlebrooks found him asleep at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Batchelor is now in jail at Gray, Ga., charged with murder.

Batchelor came out from Macon on the morning train and got off at Martin's Spring, a short distance from Griswoldville. He went straight to the home of the Andersons, where his wife had been spending a few days.

Just what happened there has not been disclosed, but there were words and a struggle. The pistol was shot while she was standing on the front porch of her home. Mrs. Anderson was a few feet above Batchelor when the shot was fired and the bullet struck her in the chest, passing through her lungs and lodging in her back.

As Batchelor's wife appeared Batchelor is said to have snatched the pistol at her, but she grasped the weapon in time to prevent it from being used. He then fled, and she followed him to the fields.

When brought to Gray, Batchelor absolutely refused to talk to the sheriff. He was taken to the jail, where he was held incommunicado. He is one of the best known farmers in this section.

John Batchelor, who is held in Gray, Ga., on charges of murdering his mother-in-law and who is said to be an Atlanta man, is not listed in the city directory or in the telephone book.

WOMAN GOVERNOR DEFENDS PARDONS
Texas Executive Says She Has Been Gilded in Actions by Ser of Mercy and Fairness

Austin, Texas, April 28.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson issued a vigorous statement tonight in answer to individuals, organizations and newspapers that have criticized her for undue liberality in the granting of pardons and paroles.

She asserted that since she assumed office on January 21, last, she had pardoned 333 persons, many of whom were guided in each case, she said, by a sense of mercy and fairness. Certain newspapers, she declared, have seized upon her liberal policy as "popular means to criticize."

"It seems that a certain part of the public is never satisfied," the statement said. "Governor Neff was criticized for issuing too few pardons; I am being criticized because they say I am issuing too many."

"I have on, re critics, if you think you can explain your actions to your God," it added.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

As Seen by—
Pierre Van Paassen

A window cleaner hanging on by his eyebrows outside my room on the sixteenth floor told me that he never looked down. "I know that if I start looking at the street I will want to jump," he said. "This is what the psychoanalysts call 'height madness,' a very real uncontrollable desire to take the plunge. Thirty or forty members of the Window Washers' association crash to the pavement each year in New York. Most of those who come to their end in this way are newcomers on the job."

The old hands are careful and steady. The fellow outside had 13 years' experience. But there came a tense moment while he was talking with me. One of the hooks to which his belt is fastened in the window sill gave way and he swayed dangerously. He never lost his coolness though and pulled himself in very carefully. When he stepped in my room he had to sit down and drink water. He was steaming with perspiration and the man looked suddenly older.

A belated wayfarer drowsed in the corner of a subway car. His hat rolled to the floor, his hands hung limp and his mouth was open. At every lurch of the car his body rolled from side to side. Presently he bent forward and his gold watch crashed to the steel floor. Even that did not awaken him. His fellow passengers looked on with stolid faces. Nobody seemed to think it was necessary to draw the fellow's attention to the disasters. "Why don't you pick it up for him?" asked my companion. "Every man for himself in this town. Why should I meddle with his business? He may accuse me of taking the watch out of his pocket," he replied.

The grandeur of New York by night can best be observed from the middle of the Brooklyn bridge. Looking at Manhattan from that point one sees the staggering Woolworth giant with each window illuminated against the darkened sky. You gain the idea of a gargantuan colossus with myriads of eyes blinking and stabbing the dark. And you are also reminded of those pictures of the cave dwellings of prehistoric South Americans, layer above layer of dwellings and multitudes of people flitting about in those human beehives.

There was an altogether too well known hangover on the street, followed by four or five others, and a high-powered automobile swept past, the occupants spitting death at a car of pursuers. Traffic regulations were set aside in that moment as two machines swayed and lurched around corners, exchanging shots with the regularity of a machine gun. My instinct, acquired during more thrilling days, made me not only duck but seek the shelter of a doorway, but I fell flat on my side, and I was not the best of rules of warfare. Suddenly my ridiculous position dawned on me when a cop marched up and inquired gently: "What the hell are you doing? You are in the way of traffic. Get up, you are a disgrace to the city of New York."

Coney Island! A roaring, shrieking, whirling, seething, crashing mass of human beings. A deafening noise of hurdy-gurdies, Belgian street organs, trombone bands, spickeys' voices, raucous whistles, mixed with the constant rumble of breakers on the seashore. People, young and old, rich and poor, white, olive, brown and black. Costumes the hues of the rainbow; gay, daring, modest, exaggerated and flaunting. Everybody pushing, squeezing, elbowing, shouldering his way through. Millions of electric bulbs glowing overhead, and a cabaret of signs and fantastic posters. A child crying piteously because separated from his mother. A bell-trousered youth gawking about the price of a cabaret dog for him and his girl. Sailors practicing at the shooting gallery. The smell of oil and fried potatoes in the air, around and between the chestnuts. All the languages in the universe are spoken about you. A modern Babel shuffling around in the spirit of good nature and enjoyment.

A newspaper acquaintance from Montreal dropped in the other day. He was here on business. Knowing that he refused to speak English in his own country, Canada, I asked him if he made an exception when visiting New York. "I don't stress the thing," he replied. "But I can take you around and will bet that I do not need to speak a single word of English on my travels." We started out. And with the exception of the taxi-driver who said he could speak Yiddish besides English, every waiter, doorman, porter, valet, and even the cabaret dancer we had occasion to converse with did it in the melodious language of France.

Hunting apartments in this city is no cinch. There seems to be a conspiracy on foot to oppose you if you are not a native-born New Yorker. For a chance to boost the price since the last tenant, but you must be doubly on the alert when the building superintendent comes about showing you around with a pleased and affable air. I discovered that in several cases where the fellow seemed good and decent people in this building, one of them said, "Are there any other besides myself here?" I asked with a somewhat knowing feeling. The guy winked knowingly.

Newspaper Photographers Unpopular With Scarred Vets Of Cincinnati Police Force as They Enter Prison Here

FEDERAL PEN GATES CLOSE TUESDAY ON ENTIRE CARLOAD OF CONVICTED OHIO WHISKY RAIDERS

"Don't let him get your picture" was the general shout at noon Tuesday of 33 former Cincinnati policemen and federal agents when they reached the local federal prison in a special Pullman car to begin serving sentences imposed on them in the great graft conspiracy recently uncovered in the Ohio city. As before unloading, photographers were unable to make pictures of the men who once were styled "Cincinnati's finest." They are shown covering their faces against the camera lens and hastily pulling down the shades to prevent Francis E. Price, fears, however, proved groundless, for the routine of the big prison is never relaxed, and their advent caused only the slightest ripple of interest as their car was sent rolling into the prison walls and they disembarked to begin the long grind of "work for Uncle Sam."

BY BILL MAHONEY.

Presenting a still welcome to newspaper reporters and photographers, 33 former prohibition enforcement officers and Cincinnati policemen, convicted of wholesale conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition law, arrived at the Atlanta federal penitentiary Tuesday under heavy guard, and in a special car which was shunted into the prison walls before the media disembarked.

Newspaper photographers were on hand to snap views of the big quota of Cincinnati prisoners as they entered the pen walls to begin their sentences, but cameramen were greeted with quickly-drawn window curtains and a general dive to cover as the former policemen and dry agents sought to avoid the camera lens.

Having been hissed and booed by a mob of their former Cincinnati victims when they left the Ohio city Monday night, it is reported that the convicted men had gained the impression that a rough reception was awaiting them on the part of prisoners at the local pen, and they were somewhat nervous as a result. FREE ART SCHOOLS SCHOLARSHIP WON BY FORMER SAILOR

New York, April 28.—Andrew Winter, a former sailor who used his spare time aboard ship to draw and paint vessels in harbors of the seven seas, was tonight awarded one of two traveling scholarships of the Free Arts schools, of the national academy of design. Winter won the Mooney prize, a cash award of $1,400 allowing him to study abroad for a year.

The Pulitzer scholarship of $1,500 was awarded by Edwin H. Blashfield, president of the academy, to W. Renwick Taylor, of Brooklyn. Twenty other students were awarded lesser cash prizes and medals.

ITALY TO PREVENT ANY HOSTILE ACT AGAINST BULGARIA

Premier Mussolini Reported To Have Sent Firm But Courteous Note to Jugo-Slavia.

Milan, Italy, April 28.—The Sofia correspondent of The Secolo says in a dispatch that Premier Mussolini, of Italy, has firmly but courteously informed Jugo-Slavia that Italy will not tolerate any action by Jugo-Slavia against Bulgaria.

FASHIONABLY DRESSED WOMEN ARE EMPLOYED.

Rome, April 28.—(By the Associated Press).—Dispatches received here from Sofia say the Bulgarian government has discovered that the central committee of the revolutionists employed fashionable women, who had entered in the best social circles, as messengers to transmit code messages between revolutionary agents in various Bulgarian cities. A number of these alleged messengers were arrested. They did not deny the charges but said they were not cognizant of the contents of the messages they carried.

The advices add that the police frustrated an attempt to kill Foreign Minister Kalloff, who had discovered a suspicious person near his home. The man resisted arrest and hurled two bombs which failed to explode. He escaped, firing numerous shots at the police.

BULGARIAN SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT REPORTED DEAD.

Rome, April 28.—The Tribune's special correspondent in Belgrade has entrapped a report from Sofia that the president of the Bulgarian supreme court has been killed by a communist who broke loose from his guards while awaiting trial.

GERMAN CABINET MEMBERS DECIDE TO RETAIN POSTS

Dr. Luther and Field Marshal Von Hindenburg Are Declared in Accord on All Questions.

Berlin, April 28.—(By the Associated Press).—The German cabinet held a meeting tonight and after listening to a report by Chancellor Luther on his conference today with president-elect Von Hindenburg, agreed unanimously to remain in office. This decision was arrived at on the ground that there was nothing in the German constitution which required the resignation of the cabinet on the occasion of an election of a new president.

Dr. Luther today carried the German government's official greetings and felicitations to Field Marshal von Hindenburg who was visiting at Gross-Schwefeln. They discussed the inauguration program and political matters under current debate in the cabinet and Dr. Luther then hurried back to Berlin to make his report.

At the conclusion of the cabinet meeting tonight, which was attended by all the ministers at present in Berlin, it was said that Field Marshal von Hindenburg and Dr. Luther are in full accord on all questions they discussed.

Will Keep Hands Off.

In reichstag circles there is a very definite impression that the present government will not be interfered with by President von Hindenburg, and that he formally will request it to remain in office in its present makeup, notwithstanding the fact that it contains one democratic and one centrist member. Such procedure would, in the opinion of political leaders, indicate a desire on the part of Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann to retain the good will or neutrality of both these parties in the reichstag, thus insuring the present government a safe working majority and the necessary immunity from the aftermath of the election.

Dr. Luther will address a meeting of German industrialists tomorrow. He will refer to the significance of the presidential election in its bearing on internal and foreign issues. This will be in lieu of a government statement in the reichstag and will be intended to placate the impatience manifested abroad over Von Hindenburg's victory.

Despite the apprehension reflected in the foreign press comment on the election, apparently convinced that the nationalist leaders who espoused the candidacy of Von Hindenburg will be indulging in political excesses which might ferment in a parliamentary crisis and rivet the three Weimar parties which backed Dr. Marx, into a coalition while awaiting trial.

SIMS CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNORSHIP OR FOR CONGRESS

Atlanta Mayor Announces Political Plans for 1926 on Return From Vacation Trip.

Mayor Walter A. Sims will be a candidate next year either for governor of Georgia or for congressman from the fifth district, he announced today, following his return from a vacation trip to Savannah and other cities of south Georgia.

While the announcement did not come as a surprise to those in close touch with the city's chief executive, it was the first occasion on which he had committed himself definitely.

"I will be in the race either for governor or for United States congressman from the fifth district next year," he said. "It is far too early yet to decide which position I will run for and future events will have to determine that. However, I certainly will be a candidate for one of the two places."

"While I was in Savannah during the past few days on a vacation many of my friends in that part of the state urged me to enter the race to succeed Governor Clifford Walker, who is now serving his second term and will not be eligible to run again. Other friends in Atlanta and this section of the state, however, want me to run for congress, and I may do that."

"My visit to Savannah, however, has absolutely no political significance as I went there on a vacation and I really took a vacation. I never saw such fine fishing in all my life and the party I was with caught about 2,000 bass on an excursion Saturday."

The mayor, with M. O. Dunning and N. B. Forrest, of Atlanta; Mayor Robert Hull, of Savannah, and several members of the Savannah board of trade, chartered a tug and went several miles out in the Atlantic Saturday in their pursuit of the finny tribe.

Although the mayor left Atlanta with every intention of resting after his vacation, he was kept occupied with business matters for a considerable part of the time, as he was called upon to participate in laying preliminary plans for the good road and air mail meeting to be held in Savannah soon, and also spent some time "hobnobbing" with Georgia editors who passed through Savannah last week on their way to the National Press association meeting in New York city.

CAILLAUX STARTS EXPENSE TRIMMING DRIVE IN FRANCE

Paris, April 28.—Finance Minister Caillaux today instituted an expense trimming campaign by writing each minister: "See me personally so that the most rigorous economy can be observed in next year's budget."

In the budget, which must be ready by May 15, Caillaux declared waste would be "incompatible with the heavy sacrifices that are or will be asked of the country."

"Every unexcused employee," he added "must be discharged."

RESCUE FROM LAKE FAILS TO RESTORE ATLANTA'S LIFE

Hicks Fails To Respond To Pulmotor After Being Brought to Land by Student.

William Edward Hicks failed to respond to pulmotor treatment Tuesday afternoon and died shortly after he was dragged from the lake by Frank McCormick, an Oglethorpe student.

When Hicks' boat capsized in the middle of the lake his 15-year-old son, Edward, dived into the water from the bank and went to his rescue. The father was fighting furiously to keep above water, and the boy, unable to hold him, was forced to abandon the rescue and swim to the bank for aid.

McCormick answered the boy's frantic screams and succeeded in dragging the drowning man from the water. An ambulance, dispatched by H. M. Patterson & Son, arrived with the father and son shortly after Dr. I. C. Case, of U. S. base hospital No. 48, arrived on the scene at the same time, administering the pulmotor treatment.

Hicks, however, failed to respond to treatment and died without regaining consciousness. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of H. M. Patterson & Son, where arrangements will be announced later.

Edward Hicks stated he and his father had been fishing in the lake and concluded to cross to the other side. The father chose a boat that was tied to the bank despite the son's warnings that it was filled with holes. The boy chose to walk around. In the middle of the lake the boat filled with water and capsized after Hicks had abandoned the paddles and was being frantically. He screamed and his son went to the rescue.

Hicks was 43 years old and lived at 41 West Twelfth street. In addition to his son, Edward, he is survived by his widow, a daughter, Miss Gladys Hicks; another son, Andrew Hicks; two sisters, Mrs. Goff Green and Mrs. Dwyer Smith; and six brothers, Albert, Boyd, Jack, Antoine, Clarence and Ernest Hicks.

Britain To Return To Gold Standard; Will Tax Imports

MORGAN ASSURES BRITISH CASH AID OF $100,000,000

Additional $200,000,000 Put Up by Reserve Bank To Safeguard Transition to Gold Standard.

BY LYLE C. WILSON.

New York, April 28.—Three hundred million dollars have been put at the disposal of the British government by J. P. Morgan & Company and the Federal Reserve bank of New York to safeguard Britain in its transition from a paper to a gold standard of currency.

Morgan is supplying $100,000,000 and the New York bank, with other reserve banks, is putting up the remainder. Thus the world approaches par after the unprecedented slumps induced by the war, and Great Britain and her dominions line up with the United States on the solvent side of the international ledger. Simultaneously it is reported from Amsterdam that Holland will reestablish the gold standard effective Wednesday.

The bank's and Morgan's formal announcements of the tremendous credit explain that the arrangement has been made "in connection with the reestablishment of the free gold market in London."

WASHINGTON PLEASED AT BRITISH COMEBACK.

Washington, April 28.—Announcement that a gold basis had been restored in England was acclaimed at the treasury today as a reconstruction step second only to conclusion of the Dawes reparation plan.

Prediction was made that other European nations soon would be enabled to restore the gold basis as a result of their decision.

Secretary Mellon and Governor Cressinger and other members of the federal reserve board felt that although the lifting of the gold embargo is an accomplished fact, the immediate psychological effect is more important. The argument was advanced that Great Britain now stood on a financial par with the United States and that these two great financial powers could now exert a powerful influence on world monetary affairs.

Great Step Forward.

A. C. Miller, reserve board member and economist, thought the British chosen the best method of initiating the gold standard by turning it over to experienced financiers to direct.

"The restoration of the gold basis in Great Britain," he said, "means that one of the greatest steps has been taken since the war toward establishment of a world monetary equilibrium."

The belief prevailed among high officials that the credit which Chancellor Churchill announced was to be established would be little used. These officials held that psychology again would play an important part, for with the credit available, temporary depression in exchange rates may reasonably be expected to come to appear as unimportant for the officials directing the effort will know that funds are available to correct any situation.

The verbal understanding by which the New York federal reserve bank will enter the open market for the purchase of sterling bills at the request of the British government.

Silver Tongue Of W.J. Bryan To Be Stilled

Famous Commoner To Quit Lecture Platform for Literary Work.

Miami, Fla., April 28.—The "silver tongue" of William Jennings Bryan, which for years has charmed millions on the chautauque circuits of the United States, is to be stilled.

The commoner announced at his home at Coconut Grove, Tuesday, his intention to withdraw from the lecture platform, dispose of his large holdings of Florida real estate, buy interest-bearing securities and devote the remainder of his life to literary work.

"I will make no more lecture tours," he said. "I am through lecturing except incidentally to several trips I have in prospect and the fulfilling of several appointments I have made."

Churchill Plan Provides for Further Debt Funding and Cuts Income Tax 2½ Per Cent.

M'KENNA DUTIES AGAIN IMPOSED

American Automobiles and Moving Picture Films Will Suffer; High Duty Placed Upon Silks.

SALIENT FEATURES OF BRITISH BUDGET.

London, April 28.—(United News).—Here are the salient features of the British budget:

Estimated revenue, $4,130,000,000.
Estimated expenditure, $3,995,000,000.
Estimated surplus, $135,000,000.
Great Britain and the dominions return to the gold standard.
Income tax reductions amounting to six pence in the pound.
Decreased supertaxes and increased death duties.
Provisions for a $300,000,000 credit from the United States to sustain the gold standard.
Imposition of taxes and economy to permit further debt funding so that the present generation and the next will have paid for the war.
Recommendations of McKenna tariff, imperial preference and some additional tariffs.

BY CHARLES M. MCANN.

London, April 28.—Winston Churchill has sent Great Britain and her dominions back to the gold standard, reduced the British income tax by 2½ per cent and provided for further funding of the British debt in the most interesting budget devised by a chancellor of the exchequer since that of the brilliant Joseph Chamberlain many years ago.

Churchill's budget is balanced to the last farthing; it takes no account of the possibility of obtaining debt payments from France, Italy and the other war borrowers and by a skillful shifting of the center of taxation it makes the tax reductions far more obvious than the tax increases contained in it. Many Britishers able to analyze the shifting of the burden are wondering whether to cheer or to curse, but to the vast masses of the lower middle class the obvious income tax reduction is a signal for prolonged and hearty rejoicing.

Springs Sensation.

Great Britain was prepared for a sensation in the dashing Churchill's first budget and Churchill did not disappoint. With the return of the old standard of gold, the restoration of imperial preference on imports from the dominions and of the McKenna tariff on certain imports from foreign lands, American automobiles and moving picture films will suffer from the imposition of the McKenna duties which were removed by the late labor government.

Churchill landed another blow on American trade with a proposal that new tariffs be imposed upon natural and artificial silk. Japan will pay a tariff of approximately $1 a pound. With a tremendous conservative majority in the house of commons

BELL STREET GRADING BEGUN BY CITY FORCE

Work of grading the Bell street underpass, from Hunter to Decatur streets, was started by the city Tuesday, according to W. A. Hansell, chief of construction.

Construction work on the bridge across the railroad tracks at that point awaits only completion of the grading, which, Mr. Hansell said, will be finished within a few weeks. The Atlanta and West Point and Georgia railroads already have agreed to pay $55,000 as their proportionate share of the cost of the bridge, and the Southern railroad is expected to give $10,000 on the project, making up the railroad's share of the total cost of $130,000.

The city has apportioned only $19,000, all of which will be needed for grading, and plans to get additional money next year to build the approaches, in accordance with its agreement with the railroad interests.

PASTOR TO DEBATE UNIFICATION IDEA AS CHURCH VOTES

Rev. L. W. Collins, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church, will present a "one-man debate" on the subject of Methodist unification at services to be held at 8 o'clock tonight. It was announced Tuesday. Dr. Collins will devote 15 minutes to each side of the question and he has promised to be "scrupulously fair" in presenting arguments on both sides. At the close of the service the congregation will vote on the issue and delegates will be elected to the district conference to be held at Douglasville.

At the close of the service an automobile, which has been purchased by the church for the use of the pastor, will be presented to Dr. Collins.

Medical Treatment Urged for Inmates Of Detention Home

Hugh W. Evans, prominent Atlanta attorney, Tuesday afternoon advocated the establishment of a hospital ward in connection with the juvenile detention home, in an address to members of the Ira Street Parent-Teachers' association. Mr. Evans declared there is no proper method of treating inmates of the home at the present time and urged the hospital ward as a means of administering to the physical needs of young delinquents.

"Birmingham has a corps of 12 to which it entrusts the duty of caring for delinquent children, while Atlanta has three," Mr. Evans said. "This is a crime against the youth of the city. It is an impossibility for the Atlanta juvenile court to give proper attention to cases that come before it because of lack of assistance."

"Judge Garland Watkins, of the juvenile court is doing a great work but he is handicapped because of the lack of funds and equipment. If Fulton county funds were spent in the education and care of the youth of the county there would be plenty of money to provide for needs of the children whose conditions in life call for special care."

ELECTION FEATURES PRESBYTERY MEETING

Election of officers for the ensuing year and reports of officers and committees will fill the closing day's program today of the Presbyterian women from 62 churches in the Atlanta presbytery, who have been holding sessions since Monday morning at the Gordon Street Presbyterian church.

Rev. Alexander Burtus, a native of Hungary and pastor of the Hungarian Presbyterian church in Hammond, La., was principal speaker Tuesday night. His subject was "Christian Work Among Foreigners in This Country."

Among the speakers Tuesday were Mrs. W. A. Turner, Jr., president of the Georgia Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church, who spoke on the work in this state, and Rev. William Huck, superintendent of home mission work in the Atlanta presbytery, speaking on "Presbyterian Home Missions."

Delegates to the meeting, numbering more than 300, were taken Tuesday afternoon on an automobile outing and visited the site for the Columbia Theological seminary in Decatur.

Mrs. Audley Morton, of Athens, state secretary for the young people's work, spoke briefly Tuesday afternoon on the various phases of her activity. Miss Edith Hodgson, of Athens, was Bible teacher.

Mrs. W. M. Everett, president of the Atlanta Presbyterian, is presiding at the meetings. Program arrangements have been in charge of Mrs. Axon Smith.

PARENTAL NEGLECT BLAMED FOR CRIME BY DR. JACKSON

"Parental and guardian functions for minors have been largely abdicated and the children have taken the whip hand so much so that it is a wonder a greater portion of today's youth has not gone to the bad," according to Dr. Crawford Jackson, general secretary of the Juvenile Protective association and founder of the organization. Parental neglect and lack of religious and other training are the most prolific causes of development of the lawless instinct in the young, he said Tuesday.

"We can hardly expect anything less than a harvest of crime from the sowing of seed in the form of a widespread disrespect for authority and the law of the land. Increases of juvenile delinquency is the most alarming social phenomenon of the time."

AFRICAN PREMIER AGAINST SECESSION FROM GREAT BRITAIN

Capetown, South Africa, April 28. (By the Associated Press.)—Premier Hertzog, addressing the national assembly today, opposed secession of the union of South Africa from the British empire.

He said secession would be a flagrant mistake for the Union of South Africa, and that it would be a national disaster if it was imposed by one section, either British or Dutch, imposing its will on the other.

He said he did not fear secession so long as each section refrained from attempting to assert its superiority to dominate the other. He urged both British and Dutch not to attempt to secure a position of dominance.

His speech was regarded as being an important contribution to the distribution of possible secession propaganda, which has been under way from time to time throughout the country.

COMMITTEE MEETS TO DISCUSS CITY BOND ISSUE PLAN

Consideration of the proposal to authorize an election to determine the flotation of a proposed $8,000,000 municipal bond issue for public schools and other civic improvements, will take place at 10 o'clock Thursday at a special meeting of the councilmanic committee, it was announced Tuesday. Alderman J. L. Carpenter, of the eleventh ward, proposed the bond issue.

The committee is composed of a representative from each ward. Dr. W. B. Duval, alderman from the first ward, is chairman of the committee. In addition to schools, Mr. Carpenter seeks to issue the bonds to erect proposed viaducts over Central avenue and Pryor street and to extend sewers and waterworks service.

The proposal also calls for an increase in tax rates of 25 cents on the $100 to pay interest and sinking fund on the bonds. This will change the tax rate from $1.50 to $1.75.

POWER OFFICIALS ASK PERMISSION TO REMOVE TRACKS

Petitions of the Georgia Railway and Power company to remove street car tracks on several unimportant streets will be considered by the electric and other railways committee of city council at a meeting to be held in city hall at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, it was announced Tuesday by Alderman Oscar H. Williamson, chairman.

In the petition the power company states that the tracks are no longer in use on the streets in question and that elimination of service on those streets will permit improved service on other lines.

SHRINERS PREPARE FOR GALA DANCE THURSDAY NIGHT

Final preparations are complete for the second big Yaara Shrine Thursday night at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel, it was announced Tuesday by members of the committee in charge of arrangements.

All members and visiting Shriners are urged to attend what is expected to be the gala social event of the season. More than 1,000 attended the other dance, which also was staged at the Biltmore.

The Peerless orchestra will furnish music and many special entertainment features are planned.

City Club To Meet

"Atlanta as an Investment Center," will be discussed by Mayor John S. Cohen, in an address to the City club of Atlanta at the Piedmont hotel Thursday at noon.

Mrs. Carl F. Hutcheson, well-known local singer, will give several solos at the luncheon.

USE OF MILK PUMPS GETS COMMITTEE O. K.

An amendment to Atlanta's milk ordinance to permit use of any sanitary milk pump for mixed drinks in which milk is used was voted by the sanitary committee of city council Tuesday, following charges by pump salesmen and soda fountain operators that some types of pumps have been discriminated against.

The original ordinance forbade use of pumps for any purpose, but it later was amended to permit use of the pumps, subject to approval of the city health officer.

However, the delegation at Tuesday's meeting stated that Dr. John J. Kennedy, city health officer, had discriminated against certain types of pumps. Dr. Kennedy denied the charges, stating that he had refused to approve only such pumps as he considered unsanitary.

Dr. Kennedy then asked the committee to adopt the amendment by which any sanitary pumps may be used. However, cases will be made if the pumps are found to be unsanitary.

POSSES STILL TRAIL KIDNAPER AND GIRL

Granville, Vt., April 28.—Searchers from Granville, Brantree and Hancock, led by Deputy Sheriff H. E. Ford, pressed northward today in quest of 11-year-old Lucille Chatterton and Earl Woodward, former convict, with whom she disappeared from her home here last Friday.

Attorney General Frank C. Archibald has ordered the capture of Woodward "dead or alive." A night search of the heavily wooded hill country yielded no new trace of the pair.

MAYOR APPROVES DEPARTMENT PLAN

Mayor Walter A. Sims Tuesday isued a statement approving the resolution pending in council which requests the legislature to authorize consolidation of all city departments under seven heads, as proposed by Councilman John A. White.

"I have advocated some consolidation of departments for several years," the mayor said, "and think that the proposal of Mr. White is one of the best steps that could be taken. The merger would be very economical and also would eliminate almost half of the clerical work necessary under the present system."

"In addition, it would fix responsibility on one man—the head of the department. At present, if anything goes wrong, it is extremely difficult to learn who is at fault. Under the new system the department head would be responsible directly to the mayor and council."

"By electing department heads for indefinite terms, much of the politics which keeps some departments in continual agitation would be eliminated, and all work could be carried out more efficiently."

The resolution was approved unanimously by the charter revision committee last week and comes up in general council next Monday. It is certain to have opposition, as Alderman J. Allen Couch, who attempted to table the paper when it was introduced early last week, already has announced that he will fight it to the end.

TECH GRIDIRON STAR SPEAKS TO MASONS

Members of the Atlanta Masonic club will have the opportunity today at noon of hearing an address by Albert Stetson, former Georgia Tech football star. C. M. Boyer, president of the club, announced Tuesday.

The meeting is to be held at Peacock cafe. In addition to the Stetson address, the Masons of the Coca-Cola company have prepared an interesting program and a vaudeville act will be given by J. J. Richmond.

BINDER'S TWO SHOPS ATTRACT VISITORS

Visitors to Atlanta are finding much to interest them in Binder's two gift shops, the main one at 117 Peachtree (opposite Piedmont hotel) and the branch at 107 Peachtree Arcade.

The growth of Binder's has been phenomenal and this is due in large measure to the growing appreciation of art and beauty by Atlantans. "It is well said that a 'woman's touch' is necessary to make a home and women know that a cheery lamp, a beautiful vase of flowers or an interesting picture will make over a mere room into an inviting place that you want to linger in. So the ladies have the habit of dropping in, if for nothing else than to become acquainted with the newest ideas in artistic decorations and novel gifts," store officials assert.

As one enters the 117 Peachtree store, the attractive arrangement of side shelves divided into color booths immediately strikes the eye. In the first booth, perhaps, the color scheme is Chinese blue, with a runner of rich old Chinese embroidery in blues and golds, on which is placed blue China temple jars, incense burners, antique Chinese brasses in many interesting forms, as well as cloisonne—one of the most beautiful arts of an artistic people. Then may come a booth of vari-colored pottery made in Holland, Italy, Spain, France and Czechoslovakia. Next is a Venetian glass display which makes one marvel at the skill of human hands. In the rear of the first floor a splendid selection of photo frames and mouldings is carried. The amount of framing done by Binder's necessitates a force of seven men in the frame shop.

Binder's business grew with such leaps and bounds after it was located on Peachtree street that additional display rooms on the second floor, which now contain just twice the space of the first floor, were necessary. Pictures, mirrors, lamps of all sizes, fern stands, smoking stands, Chinese and French embroideries and tapestries are shown here.

Whether it be a gift for a new or old housekeeper or for a sweet girl graduate, one can go to Binder's and select something which would meet with enthusiastic approval of the recipient. Binder's is a cooperative organization—each employee is a co-partner and it is due to the loyalty and untiring work of these employees that it has grown in the past.

Visitors are welcome at all times, whether they wish to make purchases or not; the saleswomen take pleasure in showing them about and will not importune them to buy, officials state.

Annual Burial Services Held By Irish Traders

Annual burial services were held in Atlanta Tuesday by the Irish Horse Traders, with about 350 members present from all parts of the United States. Funeral services for two members who have died during the past year were held at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, and services for a third from the chapel of Greenberg and Bond.

Funeral services for Pete Carroll, Jr., 11-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Carroll, of Ritz, who died June 28, 1924, and Jimmie Sherlock, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Sherlock, of Madison, who died June 24, 1924, were held from the church with Father Emmet Walsh officiating. Interment was in Oakland cemetery.

Services for J. B. Smith, 30, of Cleveland, Ga., who died May 10, 1924, were held from the chapel with Rev. M. S. Woodson officiating. Interment was in West View cemetery. The Irish Horse Traders hold annual burial services at only two places in the United States, in Atlanta and Nashville, Tenn., where they will go this morning to bury four of their members.

OPERA STAR TO SING AT MINSTREL FROLIC

The headline in the minstrelsfollies-frolie production to be staged Thursday night at the city auditorium will be Nora Allen, formerly of the Chicago Opera company. The I. C. Catholic Men's club is giving the production.

The program will be very elaborate, with singing, dancing and other features. The finale will be "A Country Frolie," with two chorus numbers. Signor Emilio Volpi is instructor for the production, Frank Baumgartner will be interlocutor for the minstrels, and Mill Chalmers is instructor of the choruses.

FLOOD THREATENS INTERNATIONAL BRIDGE

Del Rio, Texas, April 28.—Flood waters caused by spring rains are menacing the international bridge across the Rio Grande river here.

A 50-foot section of the bridge has been swept away and a five-foot rise in the river threatens a 300-foot span. Crews of men were working desperately Monday night to clear away masses of driftwood which were weakening the bridge structure. The bridge is Del Rio's only commercial artery to Mexico.

UNIVERSITY HEADS GATHER FOR MEETING

College and university presidents from practically all schools in Kentucky, Tennessee, South Carolina, Alabama and Georgia will attend the two-day session of the Southern Association of College Presidents today and Thursday. Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, is a member of the association. Meetings will be held at the Atlanta-Biltmore hotel and problems relating to administration and other matters will be considered.

Dr. F. L. McVey, president of the association and the University of Kentucky, at Lexington, has issued a cordial invitation to all members of the association to be present at deliberations of the body. Business sessions will be held both days of the convention.

Children Must Be Vaccinated Before Starting in School

If little Johnny is going to start in at school next September, it will be necessary to have him vaccinated now.

Children of pre-school age who are expected to begin their schooling with the start of the new term in September will have to be vaccinated before they can be granted certificates to enter school. Mrs. J. C. Malone, pre-school age chairman of the Atlanta Parent-Teacher council, stated Monday.

The date of registration for the new term will be May 19, and pre-school age children who are to obtain certificates should be vaccinated before that time.

There are a number of places where the vaccination points can be applied at the school clinics or at the city health office, or by any reputable physician, it was stated.

Mrs. Malone said the council wants to have the children in good physical condition before school opens.

CULLODEN OBSERVES CONFEDERATE DAY

Culloden, Ga., April 28.—(Special.) Confederate memorial exercises were held here Tuesday in the school auditorium. C. W. Battle of Culloden, delivered the memorial address.

Following the exercises, the school children marched to the cemetery and placed flowers on the graves of all Confederate veterans.

Georgia Oratorical Champion To Meet Six Zone Winners

When Aubrey Lauderdale, of LaGrange, winner last week of the Georgia high school oratorical championship, goes to Nashville, Tenn., on May 1, for the zone oratorical contest, two of the entrants he will meet will be William Culp, of Chester, S. C. high school, South Carolina champion, and Robert Sessions, winner of the Alabama state contest.

In addition to South Carolina, Alabama and Georgia, other states which will be represented at the Nashville contest will be Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee. The six state champions will deliver the orations which won for them in their respective states, and the zone champion will be chosen.

There are seven zones in the United States in this contest which is sponsored nationally by the American Bar association. The seven zone winners will go to Washington, D. C., on May 8 for the national finals, when, before a board of judges, presided over by President Calvin Coolidge, they will again deliver their orations, competing for the honor of the national championship and seven prizes, ranging from $2,000 to $300, offered by the American Bar association.

This oratorical contest, designed to create a larger interest in oratory and in the fundamentals of American government—the subjects of the orations all deal with the federal constitution—was sponsored in Georgia by The Constitution and the State High School association. Prizes were given by The Constitution to winners of the twelve preliminary district contests and to first and second place winners in the state contest. In addition, the two state winners were given seats to grand opera by H. C. Thorburn, president of Karnak, Inc.

It is estimated that 10,000 high school students in Georgia took an active interest in the contest and were thereby induced to a closer study of the United States constitution.

CARTER'S CONDITION IMPROVED IS BELIEF

The condition of United States Commissioner W. Colquitt Carter, who was taken to Blackman sanitarium in a serious condition Monday, was reported to be slightly improved on Tuesday, according to attending physicians. Commissioner Carter suffered a serious attack of acute indigestion in his office some weeks ago and his condition became so serious on Monday that he was moved from his home to the sanitarium.

The Oldest Railroad in America

Daniel Willard
President, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad

NEARLY a century ago Charles Carroll, last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence, laid the stone that marked the beginning of the Baltimore and Ohio, America's first railroad.

Its early horse-drawn cars with the crude engines that later replaced them, are now historical relics of railroad pioneering.

The Baltimore and Ohio continues today to pioneer in railroad development and service. Its ideal—to give the utmost in safety, comfort and dependability—is practiced day in and day out by the management and employees alike and has won for the railroad the friendly title “Good Neighbor.” Consistent “on-time” records have marked it as dependable.

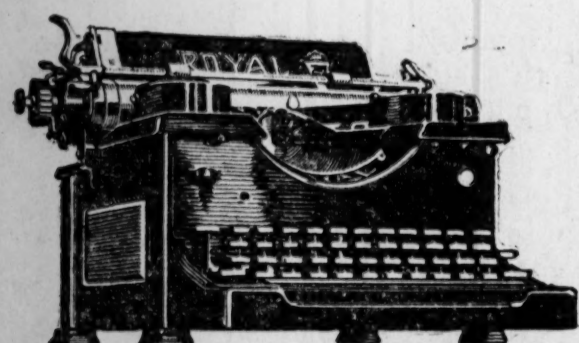

Little wonder then that in its ever increasing desire to give maximum service in every branch of its work, the Baltimore & Ohio should use the

for its letters—for Baltimore and Ohio letters must reflect those refinements of quality and appearance which characterize Baltimore and Ohio trains.

To maintain “on-time” schedules in correspondence—as in trains—is a natural ambition of a great railroad. In achieving this aim the swift accuracy and light touch of The Easy Writing Royal Typewriter are vital aids.

The Royal Typewriter is the machine of efficiency and ease.

May Festival

Friday Next---May Day!

“PATRIOTISM,” said Dr. Johnson, as recorded by the faithful Boswell, “is frequently the refuge of a scoundrel.” We are often reminded of the rough-hewn doctor's remark.

TO slight the idea of profit, to disdain money-making with deprecatory phrases, smacks of insincerity, if not something worse!

IT may as well be perfectly understood that the motives of High's are profit-making. That is our object in business. That is the plan of the May sale, starting Friday next.

KNOWING the Atlanta public as well as we do, we are aware that it does not care to do business with a store that does not make money. Certainly it is above and stronger than the temptation to benefit by eleemosynary institutions or events.

IN the pursuit of profit, of more business, our great New York organization has combed the supply sources of America in preparation for the May Sale. The buyers have used their trained and developed gifts at their highest selectivity, picking the choicest offerings.

YOU are invited to High's on Friday—May Day—to share in the Festival of Values. Nothing has been bought by the ton. Our store has not been turned into a freight shed for shunting carloads or a dumping ground for the flotsam and jetsam of the market.

AFTER all, price is a relative thing. Alone it is incomplete. What it stands for is the important and absolute thing! The May Festival prices at High's stand for QUALITY.

C. H. ANDREW HEADS GEORGIA MASONS

Macon, Ga., April 28.—The eighty-second annual assembly of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters F. and A. M. of the state of Georgia, concluded its session here tonight with the installation of officers. In the morning session, reports were read and committees heard after which the election of officers took place.

Andrew Grand Master.
Clarence H. Andrew, of Macon, was elected grand master, taking the place of F. A. Johnson, retiring grand master. The other officers elected were: W. S. Richardson, Atlanta, deputy grand master; E. A. McLean, Macon, recorder and grand treasurer; Rev. John Swain, Lilly, grand chaplain; N. H. Ballard, Atlanta, grand principal conductor of work; J. T. Waldrop, Griffin, captain of the guard; F. A. Miller, Fort Valley, conductor of council; J. G. Sandifer, Blakely, grand marshal; W. G. Mealer, Gainesville, grand steward, and Lee Wages, sentinel.

Under the direction of the Washington council, No. 6, Frank F. Baker, grand secretary of the grand lodge and illustrious master of the council, presided over the night session held at 6 o'clock. At this meeting the eighth, ninth and tenth degrees of the York rite were conferred.

The grand chapter of Royal Arch Masons will start its 103rd annual meeting tomorrow morning in the city auditorium. Officers will be elected at this time.

A night session will be held in a local lodge room for conferring the order of high priest. The Past Grand High Priest's association meets at Hotel Lanier at 9 o'clock and will conduct a business meeting afterward.

The final session will be held Thursday morning when reports and other business will be considered in the city auditorium.

At the night meeting all of the newly-elected grand officers were present. The council conferred the first degree on its new grand master by inviting him to take charge of the assembly. Grand Master C. H. Andrew addressed a few words to the gathering and then turned the meeting back to the Washington council.

There were 150 members present to represent the nearly seven thousand to which the council has grown during the nine years Grand Secretary E. A. McLean has been keeping the records. He started with 1,227 on the rolls.

Royal Order Meets.
The grand chapter of Royal Arch Masons will open its two-day meeting at the city auditorium at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The session will be opened with the following officers participating: Early H. Johnson, grand high priest; Columbus W. Williams, grand master; William A. Simmons, grand chaplain; Kingston W. Wells, grand captain of the host; Havelle; Rev. John Swain, grand principal conductor of work; N. H. Ballard, grand royal arch captain; Fort Gaines; Grand V. Matthews, grand master; third veil, Fort Valley; Charles B. Ross, grand master second veil, Atlanta; C. Percy Taylor, grand master first veil, Atlanta; Lee Wages, grand sentinel, Macon.

New officers for the coming year will be elected at this meeting. The evening meeting at 8 o'clock will be given over to conferring the order of high priest in the lodge room.

To Close Thursday.
The final business meeting of the grand chapter will be held in the auditorium at 10 o'clock at 9 o'clock. At this time a definite proposal to set aside a part of the land, now included in the orphanage grounds, for the erection of a folk's home for Masons, will be considered.

FAMOUS PLAYERS IS NOW PLANNING BIG AD CAMPAIGN

Los Angeles, April 28.—Advertising in every form found in the United States and in 3,500 daily newspapers, hundreds of them in the small towns, as one means of increasing the box office receipts of the film theaters using Famous Players-Lasky pictures, was decided on at the corporation's international convention which closed here today.

This national advertising plan, it was announced by the corporation heads at the convention, would make the Famous Players organization one of the heaviest publicity buyers in the country.

EPWORTH LEAGUE UNION MEETS AT CEDARTOWN

Cedartown, Ga., April 28.—(Special.)—The Epworth League union composed of the Epworth League organizations in Polk, Floyd and Bartow counties met here Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist church. The local league also invited similar young people's organizations from the other churches in the city. A splendid program was carried out.

The following officers were elected: President, W. B. Broach, of Rome First church; vice president, Miss Bessie Roch, of Lindale; secretary, Miss Belle Pickard, of Cedartown; treasurer, M. R. Park, of Rockmart.

CONVENTION IS HELD BY ARMY CHAPLAINS

New York, April 28.—The church, by donning the uniform and ministering to soldiers, does not mean that it approves of war. Colonel John T. Axon, of Washington, D. C., chief of the army chaplains, told a convention of second corps area chaplains today at Governor's Island.

"I do not believe that radio can ever compete with the newspaper in providing the public with news," he said.

There are fundamental difficulties in the collection and transmission of news by radio that could not meet the organized facilities of the cooperative association of the newspapers for gathering and distributing news, he said.

Mr. Stone was introduced by E. Norman Smith, president of the Canadian Press, as the most distinguished guest available for a meeting of a news organization like the Canadian Press.

Mr. Stone said he had seen the Associated Press grow from a membership of 12 in 1900 to 1,200 and had seen the Canadian Press grow from nothing until it now embraced practically every daily newspaper in Canada.

Carolina Heirs Start Hidden Treasure Hunt

New York, April 28.—A $40,000 treasure hunt, which started today, revealed the story of a North Carolina farmer who speculated in cotton futures 16 years ago and made a profit of $24,000 on a $16,000 investment in the weeks. Then he hid the money in New York, but failed to reveal its hiding place before he died last fall.

The cotton planter was A. F. Bobbit, of Halifax county, North Carolina. Before he died he confided to J. M. Johnston, Littleton, N. C., and to his sister that his estate in North Carolina would be more than $200,000 and that "he had as much more in New York."

His heirs today engaged lawyers and private investigators to find the money on a 10 per cent commission basis. They believe only $40,000 is hidden here.

STEEL REPORT SHOWS INCREASED EARNINGS

New York, April 28.—Directors of the United States Steel corporation today declared the "regular" extra dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock in addition to the regular quarterly payment of $1.25 on the common and $1.75 on the preferred shares. Extra dividends at this rate have been paid since the first quarter of 1924.

A. W. JONES DIES IN BURKE COUNTY

Savannah, Ga., April 28.—News of the death of Allen W. Jones, one of Georgia's wealthiest men, who died today in McGehee, Ga., was received here today.

Details as to Mr. Jones' death are lacking, and friends and relatives who have been advised of his death were shocked.

The deceased was at one time a prominent banker in Augusta, and his name is prominently known in state and northern financial circles. He was a big land holder in Georgia.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hattie C. Jones, two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Hill, of Atlanta and Mrs. Kate Bobbie of Augusta; one son, Malcolm B. Jones, of McGehee.

Mr. Jones was born in Middleville, Burke county and reared in Hephzibah, near Augusta. He was a high ranking Mason and a veteran member of the Barri Camp Baptist church, Burke county.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

GERMAN 'DUPING' THEORY DROPPED

Washington, April 28.—The outcome of Germany's experiment in invading von Hindenburg to the presidency continues a subject of very serious thought in Washington.

The state department remained absolutely silent on the question today and no official elsewhere, authorized to speak for the American government, would express any opinion.

Nevertheless, it was learned that some of those highest in the administration are inclined to agree with Lloyd George's terse characterization of the selection of von Hindenburg as "extraordinarily stupid."

Whatever disappointment there is appears to favor only a little of anxiety over what the old German soldier may be able to do with the new circumstances and prerogatives of the German presidency. The dominating thought is rather one of surprise and shock over the index to popular German thought given by the election.

Theory Destroyed.
The international effort to facilitate German recuperation all has been based on the theory that the German people had been misled during the war by a small militaristic autocracy. The elections, in which the successful candidate, appeared to some officials to destroy that theory entirely.

Those who hold these views expect to see a new attitude by European governments, one to another. France never has fully accepted the belief that the German rank and file were duped by its leaders, but some of the other European nations seem to have accepted it fully. It now is suggested that the world are believed to be more nearly a unit than ever before in desiring to evade war.

As for the immediate future, there is a disposition here to expect the restoration of disturbed security values on the great stock exchanges, and cautious the policy of extending loans to German industry. This would be the first effect of the world's attempt to minimize dangerous consequences of Hindenburg's election.

Break Not Feared.
It is taken for granted that responsible governments everywhere will take financial and diplomatic steps as may be found necessary to cope with the situation. There apparently is no fear here that any actual break will occur between Berlin and any other capital. Outside of few extreme groups in France, Poland and Czechoslovakia, the peoples of the world are believed to be more nearly a unit than ever before in desiring to evade war.

As for the immediate future, there is a disposition here to expect the restoration of disturbed security values on the great stock exchanges, and cautious the policy of extending loans to German industry. This would be the first effect of the world's attempt to minimize dangerous consequences of Hindenburg's election.

Beard Costs Life.
Jacksonville, Ill., April 28.—Otawa McAlister, 75 years old, was found dead with his clothes ablaze at his home here by neighbors. A long beard is believed to have been responsible for his death, since it is thought that in attempting to light a lamp his whiskers caught fire.

Leaves 70 Descendants.
Quincy, Ill., April 28.—Mrs. Hannah Reddick, who died here, is survived by six children, 23 grandchildren, 24 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren. Her oldest daughter is 73 years of age. Deceased was the last of a family of 16 children.

CHARGES FRAUD IN TARBUTTON CASE

Augusta, Ga., April 28.—Alleging that Gus A. Tarbutton, of Wrightsville, Ga., for whose death on February 17, J. J. Tanner has been sentenced to a life term in prison, and C. G. Rawlings awaits trial on a murder charge, made false representations in securing life insurance policies for $50,000 and $20,000 on the Prudential Insurance Company of America, in an equity suit filed in United States court here today, asks that these policies be declared null and void.

Claims False Statement.
The alleged false representation, according to the petition, consisted of the failure of Tarbutton to disclose the full amount of insurance upon his life at the time the two policies were purchased from the Prudential; also that there was a conspiracy to will the insured. Both policies, it is alleged, were applied for on May 2, 1924, and were issued to Tarbutton on May 27, 1924.

Gus A. Tarbutton was shot to death on February 17, 1925, by J. J. Tanner, who claimed the killing was accidental. Tanner and C. G. Rawlings, Tarbutton business partner, with Tarbutton, were out searching for bank deposits in Johnson county when the killing occurred. Tanner was tried and convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. Rawlings is now in jail at Wrightsville awaiting trial.

Under the terms of the two insurance policies, according to the petition, it is provided that upon receipt of due proof of the death of the insured the amount of insurance should be payable to the firm of Tarbutton & Rawlings company, or in case of dissolution or reorganization of said firm prior to the death of the insured, the insurance should go to the assigns of the firm.

Rawlings has already filed an affidavit with the court, in which he swore to the purpose of collection of these policies. The $50,000 policy provides for double indemnity in case of accidental death.

Brother Claims Conspiracy.
H. F. Tarbutton, brother of Gus A. Tarbutton, and administrator of the deceased's estate, has challenged the right of Rawlings to collect the insurance on the ground that Rawlings conspired to kill George A. Tarbutton, and that by this act Rawlings has forfeited any claim to or interest in the policies. H. F. Tarbutton claims for himself as administrator, the right to collect the insurance.

Donald and Sibley, of Atlanta, are attorneys for the insurance company.

Former Secretary To Overman Found Dead on Roadside

Washington, April 28.—Hilary T. Hudson, 56, former and former secretary to Senator Lee Overman of North Carolina, was found dead on the side of the Annapolis pike, 18 miles from Washington last night. A certificate of death from natural causes was issued after a coroner's inquest today. Heart failure was believed to be the cause.

Mr. Hudson is survived by his wife who is now in Shelby, N. C., and three sons, all of Washington. Mr. Hudson's widow is also said to be ill with heart trouble at Shelby, N. C. The three sons surviving are: Hilary T. Jr., of Concord, N. H.; Harry, who with his mother at Shelby; and John H., a member of a Knoxville baseball team.

French War on Reds.
Paris, April 28.—Police today searched sixteen houses where secretaries of communist organizations resided, found literature and lists of members, and seized some daggers and revolvers. However, the police said they found nothing bearing directly upon the combat last Thursday between communist and members of the "Young Patriots" in which three were killed and forty-three wounded.

Beard Costs Life.
Jacksonville, Ill., April 28.—Otawa McAlister, 75 years old, was found dead with his clothes ablaze at his home here by neighbors. A long beard is believed to have been responsible for his death, since it is thought that in attempting to light a lamp his whiskers caught fire.

Leaves 70 Descendants.
Quincy, Ill., April 28.—Mrs. Hannah Reddick, who died here, is survived by six children, 23 grandchildren, 24 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren. Her oldest daughter is 73 years of age. Deceased was the last of a family of 16 children.

GAINED EIGHT POUNDS IN THREE WEEKS

Mr. Jack Arrington of Asheville Tells Us That Taylor's Blood Medicine Gets All the Credit. He Has a Good Appetite, Eats Anything He Wants, Gained Eight Pounds in Three Weeks And Feels Fine.

Taylor's Blood Medicine contains Iodine of Potash and other vegetable ingredients, such as Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Gentian, Wintergreen and Sassafras, which act as a fine tonic to the stomach, while the Iodine of Potash absorbed by the blood destroys the poisonous acids which lead to rheumatism and paralysis. Get a bottle of Taylor's Blood Medicine today from your druggist. It will stop those headaches, backaches, pains in the fingers, arms and shoulders, and it will bring back your appetite and make you gain weight if you are thin and pale. Taylor's Blood Medicine is purely vegetable, pleasant to take, will tone up your stomach and make you feel fine.

Price $1.00 a bottle, and if you are not satisfied it helped you, after taking three bottles, which should last you about thirty days, return the bottles to your druggist and get your money back.—(adv.)

Murderer Tries To Burn Corpse To Conceal Crime

Gary, Ind., April 28.—The mutilated body of a young woman found in an isolated section of the sand dune wilderness has been identified as that of 27-year-old Mrs. Lucille Sweeney of Gary. Her husband, a railway switchman, has been taken into custody.

The body was identified late Tuesday by relatives of the girl, who also identified articles found near the corpse. Sweeney, who is about 35 years old, told police that his wife had been absent from her home since Saturday, when she left to visit sisters in Chicago. These sisters, questioned, said they did not know that Lucille was married.

Murder Brutal One.
The murder is one of the most brutal ever committed here. It is thought that the victim was about to become a mother. There were two bullet wounds in the woman's head. The police believe that she was murdered in Gary, and that the body was taken to the dune country to throw police off the trail.

There a ghastly scene was enacted some time Sunday.

The arms and legs were chopped from the corpse. Incisions were made in the torso and the murderer, believed to be of sub-normal mentality, poured gasoline into these wounds and ignited it. Reconstructing the story of the grisly attempts to mar the body beyond possible recognition, police believe that the murderer, standing beside his parked car, must slowly have fed gasoline onto the burning corpse for almost an hour.

Leaves Fire-Crisped Corpse.
When the murderer left the lonely scene—the strip of roadway, dank swamps putting out the first shoots of spring rushes, the low skyline of fantastically shaped sand hills in the Indiana dune wonderland—the fire-crisped corpse had almost lost human form.

A railway employee's card, partly burned, and other small articles were found near the body. Sweeney had 300 parents, many of them parents of missing girls, visited the morgue at Chesterford, Ind., where the body lies. Among them were the relatives of Mrs. Sweeney.

Sweeney had told the police that his wife at one time lived with a man named Phelps, and police are seeking Phelps in connection with the investigation into the tragedy.

Free Revolutionary Suspects
Lisbon, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Former Premier Cunha Leal, leader of the nationalist party, and Deputy Garcia Loureiro, who were arrested on suspicion of participating in the recent revolutionary movement in Portugal, were granted their liberty today. The charge against them could not be proved.

Girl Bandit To Pen.
South Bend, Ind., April 28.—Elizabeth Irene Aspinall, 20, Peru, Ind., was sentenced to serve from 10 to 25 years in the women's prison at Indianapolis for automobile banditry. She is the first woman in Indiana to be convicted under the auto banditry law.

Chief Shot.
Ed is one of the most notorious "hard guys" along the Brooklyn water front, and the police paid him the tribute of admitting that he was the most dangerous gangster in the borough.

Bill Lovett, his late chief, was shot dead in the gang's headquarters two years ago and after that the gang lost its identity although the members continued to carry on their trade. Gilchrist had been sent to prison three times before but the police were never able to put him away permanently until Monday.

New Hotel for Honolulu.
Honolulu, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Matson Navigation company, in conjunction with the Territorial Hotel company, will immediately commence the construction of a new hotel at Waikiki, near Honolulu, to cost $2,000,000. Frank Atherton, of Messrs. Castle and Cooke, local agents for the Matson company, announced today.

ROBBERY CHARGED TO YOUTHFUL PAIR

Charges of suspicion against R. E. Harrell, 24, of 410 Piedmont avenue, and J. M. Spratling, 23, escaped convict, of 409 Griffin street, Tuesday night were changed on the police docket to charges of robbery.

Harrell is being held under $10,000 bond, while Spratling is being held without bond. It is alleged that they held up and robbed Sam Schoen, of 13 Oakdale road, last Saturday night of $100 and two opera tickets. Police say that Schoen identified the men.

Harrell and Spratling will be given hearings on the robbery charges at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in police court.

Spratling escaped last Thursday from the Barrow county chain gang where he was serving a term for participation more than one year ago in the robbery of Foote & Davies plant here. Harrell "tipped" officers to his pal's whereabouts and later was arrested in connection with the hold-up of Mr. Schoen.

AMUSEMENTS

Lyric Theater—Lyric Players in "The Country Cousin."

Keith's Forsyth—New puns, catchy songs and dances of a distinctive sort feature the miniature musical comedy number entitled "She, Him and Her," which is being offered at Keith's Forsyth theater for the first three days of this week as the headline feature.

In addition to this splendid act the bill also includes the act of Ed and Ralph Dunke, original song writers, in "The Mirth Quakes." Miss Jacques Hayes presents a laugh-filled skit entitled "Fifteen Minutes in 'Hicksville,'" and Jess Wise and May Janese have a decided novelty in "Oh Henry." Violet and Partner present an athletic feature that is a sensation.

Pathe news reel and a Felix Cat comedy also are offered.

Douglas MacLean.

(At Metropolitan.)

"Introduce Me," the new MacLean picture at the Metropolitan theater, represents a brand-new policy for this versatile star. It's his first independent picture from an original story. It must have been some story to make him change his hard-and-fast policy of filming only adaptations of stage successes.

"A Kiss in the Dark."

(At the Rialto.)

"A Kiss in the Dark," surprisingly good motion picture which depicts a series of tremendously funny situations of married life, is the Rialto theater's feature picture this week. The depicting is done by that popular Atlanta favorite, Adolph Menjou, Allen Pringle, Lillian Rich, Kenneth McNaught, Ann Pennington, Killy Kelly, Herbert Marx, Edna Gray and others.

A new Mermaid Educational comedy entitled "Rough and Ready" also is on the program. The musical numbers are conducted by William Whitener Hubner.

NEW BRITISH BUDGET TO HURT U. S. EXPORTS

It is not likely that Churchill's "recommendations" will be ignored, but the free trade clique within the conservative party is able to lead the Earl of Derby and there is the possibility that it might create sufficient disturbance to turn the government from its indicated course.

Churchill's proposals offer relief from taxation to every class of British while imposing less obvious additional burdens where they will not chafe so much as the old ones. The entire plan seems to follow closely the United States idea of getting the government to complete normality—that is, to restore the gold standard, pay debts, economize in expenditure, reduce the income tax and increase tariffs.

Conservatives Look Ahead.

The budget seems to show plainly that the conservatives do not intend to become reactionary on the strength of their majority since they have assured future of office for five years, but are looking ahead to the next election.

From a basic rate of 22 1/2 per cent the income tax is reduced to 20 per cent on total income, representing a net reduction of 11 1/3 per cent. By increasing the exemption on personal income another 11 1/3 per cent reduction is effected in the basic tax on small incomes.

By drastically increasing the already tremendous "death duties" on estates of from $62,500 to $5,000,000 Churchill has provided funds to offset part of the income tax reduction. This increase affects a class of persons almost wholly conservative, but they are mollified by a proportionate decrease in the super-tax on great incomes. Thus Churchill would levy on the fortunes of dead men to give relief to the living.

There will be broad development of the social insurance scheme. Within the next few years it is planned to lower the age limit for old-age pensions from 75 to 65 years. Beginning January 1, 1926, the government will begin paying weekly pensions of 10 shillings (approximately $2.50) to widows whose husbands were covered by the government's existing compulsory insurance scheme. An additional 10 shillings will be paid for the eldest child and 3 shillings for each younger child until they reach 14 years of age.

Credit Is Arranged.

A credit of $300,000,000 to support the British pound at gold parity has been arranged in the United States. Churchill announced he would ask the commons to authorize this credit as an urgent matter if necessary. The prohibition against the exportation of gold expires December 31 and it will be allowed to lapse, while the Bank of England is authorized to export bullion from Tuesday. Churchill will introduce a bill authorizing the bank to redeem notes with coin at its own option.

The bank's option probably will result in any person demanding gold for notes receiving a bag of unminted gold in stead of coins. This is to prevent control of the gold supply from passing from the bank.

London, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Winston Churchill in his maiden budget laid before the house of commons today placed the British empire on a gold basis and announced the reimposition of the McKenna duties on imported luxuries.

After finding additional sources of revenue through increased death duties, a tax on silk and a few other articles, the chancellor of the exchequer went to the relief of the general British public by a straight cut of six pence in the pound on income tax.

In announcing Great Britain's return to the gold standard, Mr. Churchill declared there would be complete imperial unity in this policy.

Canada already was on a gold standard basis, and Africa, India and here the United States had notified him of the intention to revert to the gold standard from July, while Australia would from today abolish existing restrictions on free gold export and New Zealand would follow a similar course.

Mr. Churchill declared Holland and the Dutch East Indies, which are very important factors in the world's commerce, would act simultaneously with Great Britain today in restoring the gold standard.

Upon the completion of Chancellor Churchill's statement on the budget, the house of commons voted to accept all of the proposed measures.

The bank's special license, Mr. Churchill said, would operate from today pending the formal lapsing on December 31 next of the 1920 act prohibiting the export of gold bullion.

Mr. Churchill characterized the yield from internal revenue as "satisfactory."

Excess profits and corporation profit taxes showed a deficit of 9,000,000 pounds, but these were "morbund" taxes and were more than counterbalanced by the yield from income tax, super and death taxes.

The consuming power of the British people has been maintained declared Mr. Churchill.

He said he realized that the surplus of the late chancellor's estimate corresponded with remarkable accuracy to the budget's revenue from spirits. Tobacco has fallen 2,000,000 pounds below the last budget estimate but on the other hand beer had advanced by a million sterling.

Credits in United States.

Mr. Churchill said he was making arrangements to obtain credits in the

HOLLAND TO RETURN TO GOLD STANDARD

London, April 28.—The Dutch embargo on the export of gold will be lifted at once, according to an exchange telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam. Holland will return to a gold standard Wednesday.

Regulations preventing export of gold to any but countries where the gold standard prevails will succeed the embargo, Minister Colyn announced.

United States for not less than $300,000,000 with possible expansion.

The American credits being arranged for, Mr. Churchill said, would only be used if and when required, and he did not expect that it would be necessary to use them.

With regard to the reestablishment of the gold standard, Mr. Churchill said he would introduce a measure providing that internal treasury notes as well as Bank of England notes would be convertible into coin, but only at the option of the Bank of England.

The reestablishment of the gold standard, he said, did not necessarily mean a return to gold coinage. Churchill appealed to all branches of the people to continue the use of notes.

Simultaneously with these provisions, he said, the Bank of England would be obligated to sell gold bullion in amounts not less than 400 fine ounces in exchange for legal tender at a fixed price of 5 pounds, 17 shillings, 10 1/2 pence per standard ounce.

The accumulated gold reserve was 153,000,000 pounds sterling, part of which was in dollars, to the amount of $108,000,000, the chancellor announced. This dollar reserve, he said, would be required for the June and December American debt funding.

Duties on Luxuries.

Mr. Churchill proposed the reimposition of McKenna duties upon imported luxuries.

The interest on the British national debt, Churchill announced, has been reduced since 1920 by more than 70,000,000 pounds. It was most important, he said, that the policy of debt repayment should continue.

The nominal deadweight charge of the debt had decreased from 7,680,000,000 pounds on March 31, 1924, to 7,448,000,000 pounds. Churchill said he proposed to raise the sinking fund to the statutory limit.

The total expenditure of the budget, Churchill estimated, was 799,000,000 pounds sterling, which is 9,400,000 pounds sterling more than last year's budget provided. This the chancellor termed as "a very disappointing result."

The chancellor announced that sugar would be restored to the list of commodities under the imperial preference plan. Preference would also be applied to dried fruits and heavy and sparkling wines.

The standard rate of income tax will be increased from six pence in the pound sterling, Mr. Churchill announced.

The imperial preference on tobacco will be increased from one-sixth of the full duty to one-fourth. The chancellor preceded his statement of changes in the imperial preference list by announcing that the government proposed to give effect to this preference so far as it would not involve taxing foods.

By drastically increasing the already tremendous "death duties" on estates of from $62,500 to $5,000,000 Churchill has provided funds to offset part of the income tax reduction. This increase affects a class of persons almost wholly conservative, but they are mollified by a proportionate decrease in the super-tax on great incomes. Thus Churchill would levy on the fortunes of dead men to give relief to the living.

'OUTSIDER' SOUGHT IN PEN-DOPE PLOT

Efforts to locate "an outside man" who attempted Sunday to smuggle about $5,000 worth of opium into the federal prison here were being made Tuesday by Warden John Snook following the questioning of a "trustee" at the prison on whose person was found the contraband package. Warden Snook did not make public the information he obtained from the "trustee," but said a vigorous search for the outsider would be prosecuted.

Investigation of the smuggling incident is entirely in the hands of Warden Snook, according to T. E. Middlebrooks, federal narcotic agent. Mr. Middlebrooks said the whole affair was handled by Warden Snook and that he is in charge of the investigation now in progress.

Warden Snook declined to make public any names in connection with the case, declaring that such publication probably would handicap him in his investigation.

According to the information obtained, the opium was in small flat packages, and a small bottle of morphine was enclosed with it. The package of narcotics was handed to the "trustee" while he was discharging some duties outside the prison walls. Guards seized him when he attempted to reenter the building. The guards were acting on orders from the warden who had received a mysterious "tip by grapevine" that an attempt would be made to smuggle the opium into the prison where it was to be sold to addicts in the prison.

Tuesday afternoon a search of the prison was conducted by officials seeking bamboo pipes and spirit lamps used in preparation of the opium for smoking, and other steps were taken to locate accomplices within the prison walls in the smuggling attempt.

The original package of opium came to Atlanta from New York, according to information obtained by the prison officials.

PEN GATES CLOSE ON CINCINNATIANS

Houston, is said to have banked approximately $90,000. He received the same sentence as that of Sunderland.

In the group are three former night detectives from Cincinnati. They are the only ones in the original group of 71 indicted who pleaded "not guilty" to the charges brought against them. In their case, the jury was out six hours before it brought the verdict of guilty.

The detectives are Fred I. Bullerick, James Hayes and Robert Kinney. The first two are to serve 18 months and pay a fine of $2,000. Kinney is to serve one year and a day and pay a fine of $1,000.

Church Deacon Included.

One of the most interesting members of the group of prisoners is Harry "Doc" Freeburg. This man was a former deacon in a Cincinnati church and one of the most respected citizens of his community. After he had pleaded guilty to charges against him, the presiding judge dubbed him "the worst of the bunch, because you're not only a law breaker but a rotten hypocrite." Freeburg must serve 16 months.

The wholesale bribery plot was unearthed by mere accident. Haveth E. Mau, United States district attorney, unraveled the system in cross-examination of Byron Roberts, federal narcotic inspector, who was under charges in Cincinnati for failure to report a violation of the narcotic law.

Roberts, under fire, gave the entire scheme away. He was found guilty and is now serving sentence of a year and a day at the Leavenworth (Kan.) federal penitentiary.

Costly Protection.

A trial of the three indicted night detectives it developed that one bootlegger in Cincinnati had paid more than $200,000 over a five-year

BIBLE CONFERENCE WILL CLOSE TONIGHT

Tuesday marked the opening of the two-day Vacation Bible school conference at the First Baptist church. Sessions were attended by representatives of 18 churches. This conference is promoted by the Sunday school department of the Georgia Baptist convention, under direction of James W. Merritt, state field secretary, and is sponsored by the Atlanta Baptist Sunday School association. Dr. Albert H. Cagle, of Brattleboro, Vt., is the principal speaker and Mrs. W. L. Blankinship, educational director of the Atlanta Baptist association, is in charge of the local arrangements.

The conference will be in session this afternoon beginning at 3 o'clock and Wednesday night beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The session Tuesday evening was featured by the showing of motion pictures of a number of vacation Bible schools held in Georgia last summer. Among schools shown were the First Baptist church, of Norcross; the First Baptist church, of Fitzgerald; and the First Baptist church, of Greensboro. Among towns and cities represented in the meeting Tuesday were Atlanta, Douglasville, East Point, Fayetteville, Vienna, Barnesville, Decatur, Jonesboro and Cumming.

Following the Atlanta conference, Dr. Gage will assist in conferences at Cartersville on April 30, to May 1. Moore on May 2-3, Eastman on May 4-5, and Americus on May 6-7. Dr. Gage is one of America's best known specialists in vacation Bible school work and is the author of widely circulated books on the subject.

BALDWIN SEES NO SIGN OF ARMS MEETING SOON

London, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, replying to a question in the house of commons today regarding the possible summoning of another disarmament conference declared that he did not see any sign of an early call of such a conference from any quarter.

SAME FEELING IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, April 28.—The British view that there is no immediate prospect for an arms limitation conference is in line with the feeling in Washington that study of the question has not reached a point that would justify definite steps toward calling such a conference.

The whole subject has been at a standstill here awaiting the completion of a survey by Secretary Kellogg and in the light of present conditions in Europe it seems less than ever likely that the president will decide to call a conference at an early date.

Obstacles to the successful outcome of further efforts to limit armaments have been difficult, even before the German presidential election served to introduce a new and disturbing factor. It has been generally recognized in Washington that the question of security for France on her German frontier was closely bound up with the disarmament conference matter.

With the election of Von Hindenburg the security question takes on even more serious aspects from the French viewpoint.

In his seventy-seventh year, Sir David Murray, president of the Royal Society of Painters in Water Colors, is painting pictures equal to any he has produced.

CULBERTSON NAMED TO RUMANIA POST

Washington, April 28.—Appointment of William B. Culbertson, vice chairman of the tariff commission, as minister to Rumania was announced today at the white house.

He was chosen for the post several days ago, but formal announcement was withheld pending his acceptance and word from the Rumanian government that his appointment would be agreeable.

TAX LAW REPEALS BEFORE CHAMBER

Washington, April 28.—Several proposed changes in both federal and state tax laws, recommended by various business organizations throughout the country, will be considered by the United States Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting here May 24-25. The organization is expected to draft its tax recommendations for the coming congress at this meeting. The proposals, touching all phases of taxation, include:

1. Repeal of high surtax rates.
2. Abolition of federal auto taxes, leaving this taxation to states, with simplification in form, and even distribution among different types of cars.
3. Repeal of the capital stock tax, with substitution of slight increase on corporate income taxes if necessary.
4. Abolition of federal inheritance taxes, leaving these levies to the state.
5. Credit in federal estate taxes of any estate, inheritance, legacy or succession taxes paid to any state.
6. Special inheritance taxes by federal government or states upon securities whose income is exempt from federal tax.
7. Abolition of all war-time taxes upon business.
8. Revision of income tax methods to place burden of proof upon commissioner of internal revenue, instead of the taxpayer, and to give board of tax appeals jurisdiction on all matters at issue between taxpayers and internal revenue commissioner.

BOOTH WITHDRAWS PLEA IN ABATEMENT

Washington, April 28.—Edwin S. Booth, former solicitor of the interior department, who recently was indicted with Senator Wheeler, of Montana, on a conspiracy charge, withdrew today his plea in abatement. The plea had been founded on the presence of certain department of justice officers in the grand jury room, but Mr. Booth told the court today he was satisfied that they were legally present.

'Shoot To Kill' Orders Issued For Bandit Pair

In augmenting the special detail of plainclothes officers assigned to evening and night duty for the purpose of apprehending the "tea house" bandit pair operating with such success during the past several weeks, Acting Chief of Police E. L. Jett Tuesday drew crack men from the day shift and delivered special instructions to them to "shoot and shoot to kill," if the robbers were encountered.

Among the men selected for this special work are J. M. Chambers, C. C. Harper, L. L. Mosley, E. B. Jones, E. J. Tugler, B. A. Davis, E. E. Busbee, A. G. Stone and others. A rumor at police headquarters that the home of the dapper pair had been located and a "pull" would be made within a few hours was neither denied nor confirmed by Chief Jett or Captain A. J. Holcombe, detective department head.

Four special plainclothes officers and a high-powered automobile have been added to the morning police watch for use in answering burglar and other emergency calls. L. P. Portwood, L. F. Alford, C. E. McGraw and A. G. Davis are the officers with the aid of the fast car police believe the due of young bandits will be apprehended "in the act" on some of their bandit attempts.

Detective Hugh T. Brown and A. G. Stone Tuesday made several "pulls" for the robbers, learning that they had "just left" before the officers arrived. Both detectives declined to say what places were searched and would not reveal information gained as to the identity of the pair.

For the past few nights Chief Jett has donned civilian attire and has been doing detective duty during the night hours. The detective footpads must and will be apprehended," he stated.

The youthful pair continued their depredations Monday night when they held Dr. F. E. Arnold in his drug store at 455 Gordon street, and escaped with $10. Dr. Arnold emptied his pistol at their fleeing machine but, apparently, none of the shots took effect.

Captain W. F. Terry, of the police force, arrived at the scene as the car sped away.

Florida Solon Would Outlaw Use Of Word 'Flapper'

Tallahassee, Fla., April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Reference to any woman as a "flapper" in the state of Florida will be considered libelous under the provisions of a resolution introduced in the house this morning.

Immediately after its reading a motion was made that the measure be referred to the committee on Indian affairs. Members of that committee were quick in response to the defense of their committee, saying that it had already been made the "goat" at this session. An effort on the part of the chairman of the committee to bring the motion table failed.

Speaking on the measure the author, Representative Branch of Liberty, stated that he was serious in its introduction. "The women of Florida are about all we have left to look for for decency," Mr. Branch stated, "and I resent the reference to the young women of Florida that they are like a house, painted in front, shingled in the back and empty in the attic. I trust this measure will meet with serious consideration."

Being a concurrent resolution the matter will have to go to the senate. It was placed on the house calendar to be further acted upon tomorrow.

$500 CONTRIBUTION GIVEN LEGION FUND BY PALATKA MAN

Palatka, Fla., April 28.—A cash contribution of $500 from Charles Francis, wealthy Putnam county citizen, was the first contribution to the American Legion's fund for the campaign to reach the Florida state headquarters, it was announced here today by E. E. Mobley, state treasurer of the campaign. Mr. Francis, who is widely known throughout this section of the state for his charitable work, stated that he is in thorough accord with the legion's program for welfare work among disabled veterans and orphans of veterans.

Although Mr. Francis' contribution was the first to reach the state treasurer, other contributions have been reported and pledged. James C. Brown, of Sarasota, pledged a $500 contribution to the fund on April 10. This contribution was reported to the state legion convention at St. Augustine. At that time, Miami legionnaires reported on the pledge of $700 from several Miami citizens and seven legionnaires added $1,500 to this amount.

"Dead" Girl Alive.

Pottsville, Pa., April 28.—Lillian Tyler, identified as the woman whose half-burned body was found on Broad Mountain after the victim had been murdered, is alive and well, according to reports reaching state police. Mrs. Francis O'Connor, mother of the girl, says she has received a letter from her, mailed at Detroit. The girl, who was positively identified by the skull of the woman as that of Miss Tyler. This is the second wrong identification, the first mistake being made when neighbors asserted the remains were those of Anna Sullivan, of this city. Anna also turned up alive.

Proposal To Be Made That Air-Mail Contract Be Let To Private Firm

Savannah, Ga., April 28.—It will be proposed at the Boston-to-Miami air mail route conference in Savannah on May 6 to form plans with a commercial aviation company for the carrying of the post. Under the United States government requirements, planes carrying air mail are allowed 50 per cent of the postage cancellation. The cities along the proposed route will underwrite the expense of the maintenance of the service in excess of the amount collected for the postage fees.

At the present time there are plans under way for the maintenance of the coast route with another route from Savannah to Atlanta, Columbia and Charleston. This additional trip will be made daily and the carrier will take the Atlanta mail from Savannah and Charleston on alternate days.

Invitations have been sent by Mayor Hull to the mayors of Miami, West Palm Beach, Daytona Beach, Jacksonville, Charleston and Wilmington. Mayor Sims of Atlanta has announced his intention of visiting the city with a delegation of leading Atlanta business men.

A delegation of Atlantans will meet with citizens of Savannah in that city May 6 to perfect plans for urging the establishing of air mail service, it was announced Tuesday by B. S. Barker, executive secretary of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

The proposed air mail route, as planned, would be established between Boston and Miami.

A meeting for the same purpose, called by Jacksonville citizens for May 7, was indefinitely postponed Tuesday to avoid a conflict with the Savannah meeting.

Dutch Actor Dies.

Amsterdam, April 28.—The distinguished actor, Louis Bouwmeester, known as the "Henry Irving of Holland," died here today at the age of 82. One of Bouwmeester's last appearances was in 1922 when he gave a performance for delegates to The Hague conference, appearing in the role of Shylock. He was decorated by Queen Wilhelmina in 1920 for his attainments as an actor.

EPISCOPAL MINISTERS' PENSIONS INCREASED

New York, April 28.—Officers of the church pension fund of the Episcopal church announced today that it has a sufficient surplus on hand to warrant liberalizing its pension payments beyond the amount it has promised to pay. The amount of increase has not yet been determined but pensioned ministers who have been in the service will be the first to benefit.

Under the plan, as announced by Bishop William Lawrence, president of the fund, the surplus in the treasury will be used to raise by successive stages the pensions of ministers who now receive a minimum of $600 a year and of minister's widows who now receive $300.

The fund, which was begun March 1, 1917, with $8,500,000 in the treasury now has $17,000,000 available. This amount is contributed by the parishes within the church who annually pay an assessment amounting to 7 1/2 per cent of the salary paid to their clergymen. A great percentage of pensioned ministers, however, would be ordained before the fund came into existence and these receive a minimum payment of $600 yearly.

With the development of a surplus, officers of the fund now plan to place these ministers or their widows in groups of 100 beginning with those longest ordained. The surplus then will be used to pay off their assessments and to bring their pensions to $750 for laymen and $400 for widows. Then the second group will be similarly raised.

If a continued surplus warrants, each group will be raised progressively to $900, $1,000 and $1,200 with widows receiving half of that amount.

BARONET CLAIMS EVERYTHING LOST IN RUM VENTURE

London, April 28.—The Daily Mail, which recently told of Sir Broderick Hartwell's misadventure in whisky running off the American coast, now says he has circulated his supporters in the debacle.

Of the 61,000 cases in the shipment, the American authorities are declared to have seized more than 32,000. About 6,000 were sold and the proceeds spent on vessels, coal and other things, thirty-two thousand cases remain available for sale, the circular says, but it is problematical whether they can be disposed of, the risk of seizures being great.

"It is obvious," Sir Broderick continues, "that a big loss of capital is inevitable, and every contributor has the right to sue me for non-fulfillment of my guarantee, but I have lost everything, and any such action can only result in hampering my endeavors to save something from the wreck. And I am the only person who can do so."

Chicago Probing New Murder Case

Chicago, April 28.—Frank Kocurek, manager of a restaurant and formerly a butcher, was taken into custody today in connection with the finding of a week ago of the torso of a woman in a catch basin here.

After questioning Kocurek for several hours, authorities announced they believed the woman to be his wife and that he had slain her a year ago, using his knowledge of butchering in dismembering the body. Kocurek vehemently denied this, although he admitted that the body of the woman might be that of his wife who, he maintained, was kidnapped by two men on May 11, 1924.

Kocurek went to the morgue yesterday and after viewing the torso expressed the opinion that it might be his wife.

He was taken into custody when William Littleton, an acquaintance, told of threats Kocurek had made against her about a year ago.

Kocurek came to Littleton, authorities quoted the latter as saying, and offered to sell his furniture explaining that he had quarreled with his wife.

"I am going to kill her," Littleton told the authorities Kocurek had said, "and when I do it I'll use my army experience as a butcher and kill her in such a way that should what's left of her be found, no one will ever be able to tell who she was." Kocurek stopped coming to see him about a year ago, Littleton said, adding that he had not seen him since.

MOTORCYCLE-AUTO CRASH NEAR FATAL FOR YOUNG RIDER

His skull fractured and his left leg and arm badly cut and bruised, Perry George, 27, of 188 Hill street, was in serious condition at Grady hospital Tuesday night following a collision between the motorcycle he was riding and the automobile of Charles W. Thrasher of 418 East Georgia avenue. The crash occurred at Woodward avenue and Hill street.

According to information given Civil Officers M. B. Johnson and H. L. Turner, Thrasher was driving a coupe eastward on Woodward avenue and George was driving southward on Hill street, the two machines colliding at the intersection. The officers were told the motorcycle skidded into the path of the automobile, and Thrasher stated that he did not see motorcycle or its driver before he struck them.

Thrasher was arrested on charges of reckless driving and was held without bond pending the outcome of George's injuries.

Two accident victims of Monday, a small boy and an aged woman, were in the hospital following a crash through Tuesday, according to physicians at Grady hospital.

Little hope is held for the recovery of Warren Segars, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Segars, of 71 Tye street, who was struck down by an automobile in the Kroger street underpass, on the Saturday of last week.

He is suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Mrs. J. G. Taylor, 62, of 50 Pondera avenue, suffered a fractured skull, a broken jaw and a lacerated breast when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband and three other persons, crashed into a tree on the way from Bolton. Physicians stated Mrs. Taylor was resting easily late Tuesday but that her condition was grave.

Charles Lowe, of 24 Kirkwood avenue, driver of the car which struck Warren Segars, is held under bond of $1,000.

Stabbed on Hunt For 'Moonshine,' Man Tells Police

With a stab wound in the chest near the heart and a long gash on his left cheek, E. T. Austin, 38, of 29 Tifton street, a steam shovel engineer, is near death at Grady hospital, while police are seeking the man who attacked him with a murderous knife.

According to the story told by Austin to attending physicians, he was cut in the home of a Syrian, in the neighborhood of Gilmer and Taylor streets, early Tuesday night when he went there to purchase moonshine liquor. The wounded man named as his companions on the trip to the house Dyer, of a Washington street address, and J. L. White, whose address he said he did not know. He was unable to state definitely where the house was located.

Austin said that he and his two companions went to the house and secured a drink of the liquor and later returned for a second. On their return, he claimed, one of several Syrians in the place attacked him without provocation. He said he remembered no attempt to rob him and could recollect nothing that transpired between the attack and his advent at the hospital.

Physicians stated that Austin's lung was punctured by the blade of the knife and that eight stitches were necessary to close the ugly gash on his face. His condition is regarded as critical.

At a late hour Tuesday night no report of the incident had been filed at police headquarters and no arrests had been made.

EPISCOPAL LEADERS MEETING IN CHICAGO

Chicago, April 28.—The joint commission of bishops, clergy and lay representatives of the Episcopal church met here today to determine upon recommendations to the general convention in New Orleans next October.

A preliminary draft of the recommendations made public today included several amendments to the church constitution which would considerably enlarge and extend powers of the Episcopal province, a century-old discussion.

Opponents of enlarged powers claim the proposed amendments would lead to the introduction of primates and archbishops in the American church, a duplication of effort, impair efficiency and hamper effective work in the remote fields.

Proponents urge that they would promote economy and efficiency, increase revenue and relieve the national debt of the general convention of much detail.

12 MULES BURN IN BARN FIRE IN SOUTH GEORGIA

Reidsville, Ga., April 28.—(Special.)—News was received here today of the burning of the barn and outhouses on the farm of W. H. Youmans, living near Collins, Ga.

It is said that besides the buildings there were 12 mules, four of which had just recently been purchased, several cows and all feed-stuff and a great part of the gear and farm tools burned.

This fire is thought to be of incendiary origin, as it comes following one of about a year ago, in which Mr. Youmans had a house burned with all its contents, including a lot of supplies and a new automobile.

MORE TIME GIVEN 2 JONES BROTHERS TO PREPARE PLEAS

Baltimore, April 28.—Winfield Jones, of Washington, D. C., and T. J. Jones, of Atlanta, Ga., were granted until Monday next to file pleas to indictments charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, and were released on $2,500 bail each, by United States Commissioner Suplee today.

The two men are alleged to have been the ringleaders in a conspiracy to divert alcohol from government warehouses to the "hot spots" which, through the Maryland Drug and Chemical company.

Air Line To Start.

Kansas City, April 28.—Airplane service between Kansas City and St. Louis will be established by the Kansas City Airway Transportation company, probably about June 1, according to Charles W. Brunn, an attorney. Application for charter under the laws of Delaware has been made, he said.

Brunn, who declined to reveal the names of the officers of the company, said that five passenger planes would be used in the service.

Moses Will Give Dawes No Help In Rule Changes

Washington, April 28.—Vice President Dawes will receive no support from the president pro tem, of the senate, Senator Moses, republican, of New Hampshire, in his effort to revise the rules of the senate. That became evident today when Senator Moses upon his return to Washington, discussed General Dawes' recent address in Old North church, at Boston.

"The vice president's attack upon the rules of the senate aroused so much enthusiasm and was given such a warm reception," said the New Hampshire senator, "that the temperature dropped to 18 degrees above zero, and six inches of snow fell."

No Material Changes.

Senator Moses, who is a member of the rules committee, predicted that, despite efforts of Vice President Dawes during the congressional recess, no material changes in the rules would be made at the next session of the senate.

"I am looking for tax reform at the next session of the senate," he continued, "and it will not fail because of the rules of that body, which work well enough when the people are awake and are on the job."

"Our rules do not prevent the passage of legislation which the people really want. They have now existed for more than a century, and while frequently subject to violent attack, have never kept any desirable or desirable piece of legislation off the statute books. A lot of bad legislation has been kept off the statute books by them."

Defends Rules.

"We should have some place in this country of ours where a man can say his say. Had we been operating in the senate under cloture, we would have had free silver in 1893, ship purchase in 1915, which would have launched us into the world war two years before we were ready, and in 1919 the Versailles treaty would have been ratified without reservation."

Commenting on the election of Von Hindenburg as president of Germany, Senator Moses said he was not apprehensive over the situation.

"We will be protected from any danger there might otherwise be in the situation," he said, "by the Dawes plan."

PROHIBITION UNIT TO BE REORGANIZED

Washington, April 28.—A reorganization of the prohibition unit in prospect, Assistant Secretary Andrews indicated today, as a result of the month's study he has given the bureau since he assumed office.

Secretary Andrews did not disclose the nature of the changes to be made but reiterated that Commissioner Haynes will remain in charge of enforcement for the present. There was every reason to predict satisfactory coordination between Mr. Haynes and his own office, the assistant secretary declared.

The new field marshal of prohibition decided reports that he would be "hard boiled" in putting through the proposed reorganization. What was intended, he explained, was to give trusted workers encouragement and support and to weed out the crooks and others who are not functioning in the interest of law and order, and to "eliminate sentiment."

OBITUARIES AT ATLANTA PITCHERS FOR 12-3 WIN

Kentucky Candidates Run On Soft Churchhill Track

Louisville, Ky., April 23.—Several prominent nominees for the $50,000 Kentucky derby splashed through the mud in their workouts at Churchill Downs today. Rain last night softened the track and some candidates found little pleasure in the soft-going.

Frederick Johnson's Quatrain, the present favorite, was breezed a mile and finished with plenty in reserve. He had no pace-maker; he was hooded just before being sent on his journey. A superior mudder, he stepped each quarter almost alike, his time by quarters being 20; 52; 1:17 4-5, and 1:45.

Captain Hart, another heavily backed eligible, worked the mile in 1:45 2-5, most of the way under reserve. He was clocked at the quarter in 24 3-5; half in 49 4-5; three-quarters in 1:17 1-5, and galloped out the mile.

'BAMA WINS WITH LATE RALLY

University, Ala., April 23.—(Special.)

After literally toying with the Crimson for seven long frames here this afternoon, Briggs, "Ole" Miss hurler, slipped a cog and lost the second game of the series to Alabama by a 4-to-3 score. The eighth inning, in which the Crimson made two walks and four hits for four runs, was the most thrilling of the season.

Ole Miss had assumed a lead of three runs in the opening frame when Lewis walked Wood, Leftwich beat out an infield hit, Mustin got life when Gillis dropped Lewis' throw and Allen doubled to right. This was the only hole Lewis got himself into.

Had not Red Barnes attempted to steal third with a man aboard there in the first, the Crimson might have scored in the initial frame. Winslett beat out a sizzler to start the frame and took second on Marshall's throw.

With Winslett on third and Gillis on second, Propst's single came, winning the game.

Briggs gave the Crimson little to hit at until the eighth inning, when Chambers, Rosefield, and Winslett singled in rapid succession and Gillis was walked, filling the bases after Chambers scored on Winslett's blow.

With Winslett on third and Gillis on second, Propst's single came, winning the game.

GREGG INDUCTED AS ROTARY HEAD

Robert Gregg, president of the Atlantic Steel company, was installed as president of the Atlanta Rotary club at the annual meeting Tuesday night in the ballroom of the Biltmore hotel. Other officers installed were: William Rorer, first vice president; Francis Kamper, second vice president; Robert Scott, secretary; George Harris, treasurer; John Edward Mott, sergeant-at-arms; and Berne Gibson, William Hoffman, Harold Wey, Robert L. Foreman and George Bland, directors.

The program was entertaining, though tempered by the regret of the club at the death of Francis M. Marsh, late an active Rotarian. Phillip Colbert, of the Y. M. C. A., offered the invocation and music was furnished by Vic Myers' orchestra.

One of the features of the evening was the address of J. P. Allen, retiring president, who stressed the Rotary Educational Foundation as one of the principal works of the club. Baskets of beautiful flowers were presented Mr. Gregg and Mr. Allen as the new and retiring presidents, respectively. The "Sunshine" report was made by George Watts and was a feature. A fashion revue was given by six young girls dressed as maids of yesteryears, in costume.

Presentation of a Rotary pin to George Watts, a set of goblets to Herbert Oliver, and a watch and set of goblets to "Jim" Allen were made in recognition of their splendid work for Rotary.

One of the most beautiful effects in the ballroom meeting hall was a flowing miniature fountain at the president's table.

a strong oppositional factor on the floor of the reichstag.

Eliminate Irritants.

There is a keen desire apparent in the circles about Von Hindenburg to eliminate all possible irritants from the situation on the eve of his inauguration. This inclination is said to have been actively inspired by the personal wishes of the president-elect, who is declared to be sternly opposed to any retaliatory tactics or the adoption of a political course which would be in opposition to his campaign slogan.

Unless the present program is altered, Field Marshal von Hindenburg will formally inaugurate his administration under the republican formula. President Loebe, of the reichstag, the socialist leader will administer the oath. Von Hindenburg's friends obviously are desirous of having him sworn in by a reichstag official who is not a socialist, while the adherents of Loebe's party are just as determined to have this rare prerogative devolve upon one of its members. They also may be relied upon to provide the necessary republican trimmings to the inauguration setting, so far as a liberal display of republican colors is concerned, and Von Hindenburg may find himself standing under a canopy of black-red-gold flags when he takes the oath of allegiance to the republican constitution as read to him by Herr Loebe.

Von Hindenburg's executive staff has not yet been appointed, although several reichstag members of Foreign Minister Stresemann's German people's party have been named for the post of "secretary of state to the president," as it is believed desirable to have men with parliamentary training at the new president's disposal.

OTTO BRAUN PREMIER OF COALITION PARTY.

Berlin, April 28.—(By Associated Press.)—Otto Braun, leader of the socialists and candidate of the socialist party for the presidency of the republic in the primary election, held March 29, reappeared as premier at the head of the three-party coalition ministry in the Prussian diet today.

After announcing the new government program, Herr Braun informed the diet that his cabinet would ask an immediate vote of confidence, upon the outcome of which will depend the definite solution of the Prussian parliamentary crisis which has been in existence for more than three months. Braun heads the same cabinet that former Chancellor Marx organized at the time he entered Prussian politics.

The cabinet comprises delegates from the socialist, centrist and democratic parties. It commands only a slight majority as the German national, the German people's party, the communists and several detached groups can, by a joint vote, force its retirement.

As the right parties are determined to have Zevering, the social Prussian minister of the interior, removed from politics, it is believed the resuscitated ministry headed by Herr Braun will have only a brief tenure of office and that elections for a new diet can be reckoned upon by this spring.

"Prussia is a part of Von Hindenburg's victory," declares the reactionary newspaper Reichsbote, which expresses the fear that the presence of Herr Zevering in the strategic post of

Einstein Relativity Theory Brings Clash of Scientists

Washington, April 28.—Contradictory views on the Einstein theory of relativity were expressed in papers read today before the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences, which ended its open sessions with a banquet tonight at which the Daniel Guggenheim fund for 1924 was awarded to Abbe Henri Breuil, European archaeologist, for his paleolithic researches, and the Mary Clark Thompson medal given to John Mason Clark, New York geologist.

Dr. Dayton C. Miller, of the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, Ohio, told the academy today that experiments conducted during the last four years at Cleveland, and the conclusion that there is a relative motion of the earth and the ether and that the solar system as a whole is moving through space. This tends to disprove the Einstein theory, he said, which is predicated in part on experiments conducted in 1887 by A. A. Michelson of the University of Chicago and the late E. W. Morley, who concluded that there was no drift of ether.

Find Supporting Evidence.

Dr. George Ellery Hale, honorary director of the Mount Wilson observatory, announced that his director, Dr. Walter S. Adams, had found supporting evidence for the Einstein theory in photographing the spectrum of the faint companion star of Sirius, the brightest in the heavens.

Dr. Adams has now accomplished with the 100-inch Hooker telescope the difficult task of photographing the spectrum of the companion star and measuring the position of the lines in its spectrum. He declared: "He finds them to be shifted toward the red end of the spectrum by an amount in close accord with Einstein's theory." The discovery, he said, tends to confirm Einstein's theory of relativity.

WAR MEDALS REAPPEAR

Berlin, April 28.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg's election to the presidency has revived numerous evidences of the old monarchical days.

War decorations, hitherto hidden under the republican system, are reappearing on many a German breast. Monocles, affected by the "best classes" in the pre-war days, also are becoming popular again.

The youthful fascists in Hanover, Hindenburg's home town, are still celebrating his victory, with heavy beer drinking, music and varied renditions of "Deutschland Uber Alles."

Indications of the new defiance toward France are contained in an editorial published by the Deutsche Tageszeitung, mouthpiece for the nationalists. Under the caption "Hindenburg and our foreign policy," the editorial warns that Germany henceforth intends to assume more dignity and a stiffer spine in her dealings with France.

Declaring that Hindenburg in no way will obstruct a real understanding with France, the paper continues: "Germany's popular will, clearly expressed in the election of Hindenburg, is that of peace and justice, but it is not that of peace at any price. It is true that peace cannot be bought upon a basis of injustice and oppression. Germany, which has renounced so much and made such extreme sacrifices, cannot make further one-sided renunciations."

Firmer Front to France.

Political leaders themselves hint of intention to show a firmer front to French demands, although there is no disposition to sabotage the Dawes plan nor otherwise to affront foreign opinion unnecessarily.

Chancellor Luther visited Hindenburg at Hanover, Tuesday, to discuss pending political problems and it was announced subsequently that the men are in complete agreement. Following Luther's return the cabinet decided to remain in office, as there is no constitutional obligation to resign.

It is reported from Cologne that Hindenburg's election has revived separatist agitation in the Rhineland. Bloody battles occurred when the separatists repelled their greatest strength following the occupation of the Ruhr, but desire to escape from German rule has slowly diminished. Whether objections to Hindenburg will serve to revive it to its original strength is problematical.

"HAIL, HINDENBURG!" CRY OF MONARCHISTS.

Hanover, Germany, April 28.—The steel helmet monarchist organizations seem to have taken possession of Hanover and are celebrating exultantly the election of Von Hindenburg. At their favorite restaurants and cafes members of these monarchist groups are yelling themselves hoarse day and night shouting, "Hail, Hindenburg!" singing patriotic songs and imbibing freely.

Chancellor Luther arrived to confer with President-elect Hindenburg on the political situation and to discuss details of the inauguration ceremony and of the general's entry into Berlin. They also discussed the appointment of a secretary to the president but no decision was announced.

A constant stream of pedestrians, motorists and bicyclists are arriving at the Hindenburg villa. Numerous airplanes have been hovering over the house and dropping wreaths and messages of congratulation.

A torch-light parade in which 4,000 nationalists marched was held last night in the neighborhood of the villa of Von Hindenburg's son, near here, where the general previously had visited.

INAUGURATION ATTIRE WORRIES FIELD MARSHAL.

Berlin, April 28.—The victory of the nationalists in the presidential election has been closely followed by the resumption of the band concerts in the public squares, customary in the days of the monarchy, and which consisted chiefly of the rendition of patriotic airs. At the Wittenberg Platz yesterday afternoon the band played the "Army March No. 2," called "Kaiser Waltz" by Strauss, the "Fredericus Rex March," the "Black, White and Red" imperial flag song, and "Deutschland Uber Alles."

Germany's new president-elect not only has the cares of office to face in the near future, but one problem of an apparently minor nature which is giving him and his advisers real concern in connection with his inauguration.

This is the delicate problem of how he shall attire himself for the ceremonial. As head of the nation Hindenburg also is commander-in-chief of the army and it is planned to have him review a military parade immediately after the ceremony in the reichstag. When therefore a president has reviewed the troops he has done so in civilian attire, but Hindenburg, besides being a civilian president is a retired field marshal general and entitled to wear a uniform.

C. CATHOLIC CLUB READY FOR MINSTREL

Rehearsals ended Tuesday for the I. C. Catholic Men's club minstrel show to be presented at the auditorium Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock. During the last three weeks young men and young women who will participate in this production have been working hard and will give the public a very splendid evening of enjoyment, those in charge state. Tuesday night several artists took part in two radio concerts, giving the outside world a brief outline of what they will furnish Atlantans Thursday night. Under the management of the Volpi-Coolidge Enterprises the young people have been given strenuous rehearsals and all appear eager for the first curtain. Miss Thelma Chalmers, who has been instructing the two choruses during rehearsals, promises a very interesting spectacle. She also will give a solo dance during the "country club frolic," which will be one of the concluding numbers.

Miss Cecelia Steiner, leading one of the choruses, will sing "I Make the Pies Like Your Mother Made," being assisted by 10 girls, all dressed in fancy costumes. Another chorus of 10 girls will be led by John Byrne, who will offer "I Don't Want to Get Married."

Another feature will be "Five Minutes in Fairyland," introducing Miss Kathleen Watson, who will render "The Glowworm," during which a solo dance will be given by Miss Virginia Gorman, assisted by 12 children in a dance number with special electrical effects.

Nora Allen, well-known lyric soprano, will offer several selections under a Japanese setting.

Among songsters in the production will be Carl Calloway and W. B. Cawthron, tenors; Thomas H. Denny and Rudolph Lehman, baritones, all of whom have special numbers. Comedians will include John Byrne, C. R. Allen, W. R. Monk, Billy Stocks, H. M. Carver and N. G. Farris. In the black face circle are Karl Gardner, J. T. Hattie, P. D. Kist, J. C. Kane, George Andrews, Bill Cleary, V. A. Lambert, Donald K. Blount, C. M. Kenny and Harold Freeman. Frank Baumgartner will be interloper, appearing after the performance dancing will be conducted in Taft hall and all those attending the minstrel are invited by the club to participate in the dance. A matinee will be given at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the evening show at 8:15.

"Jazz-Mindedness" Injuring Education, Says School Head

Austin, Texas, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—A declaration that "Jazz-mindedness" has cluttered twentieth century education, making the possession of riches and consumption of goods the measure of greatness, was made by F. D. Slutz, principal of Morain Park school, of Dayton, Ohio, before the national congress of parents and teachers convention here tonight.

In other days, he said, "culture, attainment and accomplishment were factors."

Continued interest in a given subject falls, he declared, because people want thrills and rapid changes, which, he asserted, was one manifestation of "jazz-mindedness." He also attributed some of the tendency to the prevalence of show thinking, asserting that there is a frenzied belief in pseudo psychology.

The school master, as he surveys the crowds of individuals around him and studies their action, realizes that there is a broadening concept of culture different from the old concept which was individualistic in nature. "Now we find a new culture gaining a foothold which largely is concerned with the art of living together."

Mrs. Slutz declared too much attention is paid to the mechanics of education such as buildings and equipment and too little to humanizing educations.

—More than a mercenary effort to sell merchandise

—Rich's 58th Birthday celebration is an expression of deeply-felt and sincere thanks to the people who have helped us build this very great and unusual business—today ranking among the foremost stores of America:

—Speaking from the heart, it is our earnest desire that this year's 58th Anniversary shall unstintingly reciprocate the fine spirit of public encouragement and cooperation that "Atlanta's Own Store" has treasured for more than half a century

—It is our hope and honest intent that the coming celebration shall weld even closer the binding links of staunch friendship between this store and the loyal public of the Southland.

—Already the far-reaching plans have so taken root in the public's imagination that a fine spirit of expectancy and enthusiasm is in the very air.

—Here in the store is a scene probably never equalled in the annals of Southern merchandising. A tremendous $600,000 stock—EVERYTHING BRAND NEW—and of certified quality—is being hurriedly unpacked and made ready to be distributed as Birthday Tokens of Good Will at prices that equal today's actual cost—or at slightly above cost.

America's Foremost Manufacturers Have Generously Cooperated

—For many busy weeks twenty of Rich's buying executives have been searching the markets.

—Manufacturers and importers, in appreciation of our large regular business, have literally given us a great wealth of their NEWEST SUMMER MERCHANDISE—everything of CERTIFIED QUALITY—to be distributed to our friends as birthday gifts of genuine good will.

—With full confidence and a knowledge of the super-values to be offered—we promise this to be a Birthday Sale Celebration without counterpart, without parallel or precedent—and in all truth—

—"In All Our 58 Years No Sale Like This."

58th ANNIVERSARY SALE

Girls of Prominence Will Hold Society's Attention Today

The four lovely brides of this week have all chosen today as the day on which to plight their troth, whether by mere coincidence or by direct conspiracy. Certain it is that Atlanta society will hurry from one beautiful nuptial ceremony to another, so as not to miss even one of these brilliant events in which four charming Atlanta girls will look their loveliest in tulle and orange blossoms.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Miss Katherine DuBose will be married to Edwin Kent Davis at the home of her aunt, Mrs. T. Howard Bell, on Peachtree street.

At 8:30 o'clock this evening a brilliant ceremony taking place at the Piedmont Driving club will unite in marriage Miss Mary Shedden and Robert Langdon Foreman, Jr.

At the same hour Miss Dorothy Kirk will wed William Brenner Dunn at the Atlanta Biltmore, the ceremony to take place in the handsome Georgian ballroom.

Still another nuptial event will take place at the wedding hour of half after eight, the principals of which will be Miss Blanche Roberts and Harry Shi McCowan. This time, the ceremony being staged in College Park at the Baptist church, of which the bride's father, Rev. L. E. Roberts, is pastor.

Visitors who have remained over after the gay opera week, and brides-elect whose "hour" is not yet at hand, will be central figures at the lovely informal parties which will fill the intervening hours of the day.

Mrs. Carlock Will Be Honor Guest.

Major and Mrs. Charles Roberts will entertain at an informal bridge party Saturday evening, May 2, at their home on Peachtree road, in honor of Mrs. Floyd Carlock, of Pullman, Wash., who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Horine, at their home on East Fourteenth street.

Miss Raffespiger To Entertain.

Miss Elida Raffespiger will be hostess at an informal bridge-luncheon on Wednesday at her home at Fort McPherson, the occasion to assemble a charming group of friends. The guests will include Mrs. E. W. Leard, Mrs. J. E. Graham, Mrs. George E. Prindle, Mrs. Katharine Priest, Mrs. Hugh Parker, Mrs. King of Cheyenne, Wyo., and Mrs. A. H. Bolling.

Bridal Party Honored By Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Johnson entertained Tuesday evening with a dinner party at their home on Eighth street, honoring their sister, Miss Katherine DuBose, whose marriage to Edwin Kent Davis is an interesting event of today.

Covers were laid for the bridal party and out-of-town guests. The marriage of Miss DuBose and Mr. Davis will take place at high noon, Wednesday, at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. T. Howard Bell, on Peachtree street.

New Orleans Visitor Is Honor Guest.

Mrs. T. C. Olney, of New Orleans, the charming guest of Mrs. William F. Spaulding, will be the central figure at the party given Saturday evening at the dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clarke.

Miss DuBose and Miss Bell Honored at Luncheon.

Miss Katherine DuBose, a lovely bride-elect of Wednesday, was honor guest at the luncheon at which Miss Marion Smith was hostess Tuesday at the Atlanta Biltmore. Sharing honors with Miss DuBose was Miss Sarah Bell, who has recently returned from Europe.

The artistic luncheon table was graced by a bowl holding pink snapdragons and narcissi. Attractive little white fans, tied with white ribbons, showed in orange blossoms were given as favors, and cards hand-placed in brides, marked the guests' places. Covers were laid for Miss

DuBose, Miss Bell, Miss Claire Louise Scott and her guest, Miss Josephine Davis, of St. Simons island; Mrs. Carroll McGaughey, Mrs. Blair Armstrong, Mrs. Ferrin Nicholson, Jr., Mrs. Sam DuBose, Mrs. Palmer Johnson, Mrs. John Inman Bell and Mrs. Osborne.

Little Anne Wagar Is Honored on Birthday.

Little Anne Wilkinson Wagar's second birthday was celebrated at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Wilkinson on Peachtree road, Tuesday afternoon at an all fresco party. Little Anne is the daughter of Mrs. Humphrey Wagar and Mrs. Wagar assisted Mrs. Wilkinson in entertaining the happy little folks.

Games were played on the lawn and each little girl was presented with a parasol and each little boy with a paper hat. The table, placed on the back porch, was decorated with two tiny white candles.

Miss Louise Dooly Is Honor Guest.

Mrs. John A. Hynds was hostess at a lovely luncheon Tuesday at her home on Myrtle street in compliment to Miss Louise Dooly of Asheville, N. C., who is the guest of her sister, Miss Lillian Flynn, in the Ponce de Leon apartments. Miss Dooly was among the prominent out-of-town guests attending opera last week.

The home was adorned throughout with a charming arrangement of American beauty roses, blue iris and other lovely blossoms from the gardens of the hostess.

Covers were placed for Miss Dooly, Miss Lillian Flynn, Mrs. Clyde Haynes, Mrs. R. E. O'Donnell, Miss Kittie Lovell and Mrs. Hynds.

Mrs. Pickett Honors Little Miss Wingo.

Little Miss Annabelle Wingo, of Stuttgart, Ark., who with her mother, Mrs. Floyd Wingo, spent over a week as the guest of Mrs. Smith Pickett, was complimented Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Pickett with a party. Japanese decorations and Japanese games featured the party.

Little Miss Wingo wore an imported frock of pale blue georgette trimmed with cream lace and French ribbon flowers.

The guest list included Mesdames Fitter, Bailey Troutman, Claire Humniff, Eleanor Troutman, Billy Carroll, Tom Miller Roper, Nina Black, Genie Davis, Peggy Hughes and Ruth Humniff.

Mrs. Rambo Honors Miss Winnie Davis.

Miss Winnie Belle Davis, whose marriage to Charles E. Lowe of Titusville, Fla., will be an interesting event of Tuesday, May 5, was the guest of honor at the luncheon given by Mrs. R. K. Rambo at the Capital City club Tuesday.

The table was decorated with a basket of vari-colored garden flowers. The guests included Mrs. Rambo, Miss Mary Rawson Shedden, lovely bride-elect of Wednesday, whose marriage to Robert Langdon Foreman will be a brilliant event of this evening, and will take place at the Piedmont Driving club at 8:30 o'clock.

Attractive Bride-Elect

Miss Mary Rawson Shedden, lovely bride-elect of Wednesday, whose marriage to Robert Langdon Foreman will be a brilliant event of this evening, and will take place at the Piedmont Driving club at 8:30 o'clock.

R. K. Rambo at the Capital City club Tuesday.

The table was decorated with a basket of vari-colored garden flowers. The guests included Mrs. Rambo, Miss Mary Rawson Shedden, lovely bride-elect of Wednesday, whose marriage to Robert Langdon Foreman will be a brilliant event of this evening, and will take place at the Piedmont Driving club at 8:30 o'clock.

Sunday afternoon Miss Davis will hold open house at her home on Briarcliff road.

Monday afternoon Mrs. Sam DuBose will entertain at a bridge-tee.

Miss Lois Jones Honors Miss Mary Lou Barge.

Miss Lois Jones was hostess at East Lake Country club Tuesday when she entertained Miss Mary Lou Barge, a bride-elect of the coming month, at tea.

The tea table was arranged in the sun parlor of the club and had for the central decoration a large silver basket of hydrangeas.

Covers were placed for Misses Barge, Louise Dent, Jimmie Claude Farmer, Margaret Bryan, Harriett Childs, Ida Sewell, Ruby Jones, Mrs. A. D. Kiser, Mrs. Frank L. Camp, Mrs. Cam Lanier, Mrs. Paul Solomon, Mrs. Hal Morris, Mrs. J. B. Lenhardt, Mrs. Seward Smith, Mrs. R. L. Barge, Mrs. George Braungart.

"Flower Children" To Be Given Wednesday.

"Flower Children," a program arranged in celebration of National Garden week and under the auspices of the flower lovers' division of the Atlanta Woman's club, will be presented Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock in the club auditorium.

About 60 children will participate in this great pageant, which bids fair to be one of the most artistic entertainments ever given in the city by children. Mrs. Charles E. LaFontaine is in charge of the production and she has established for herself the reputation of being one of Atlanta's foremost teachers of child dancing. Many unusual and distinctive features will be introduced. There will be a variety of dances and beautiful costumes, all symbolic of spring and flowers.

A group of children from the junior department of the theater guild dressed in garden attire will act as ushers and will form a beautiful tableau representing garden time. Mrs. Joseph R. Braucourt, a very famous artist at the piano, will be in charge of the music.

Mrs. William Bang To Compliment Miss Bellingrath

Mrs. William Bang will entertain Thursday at a bridge-tee at her new home on South Candler street in Decatur in honor of her cousin, Miss Lillie Bellingrath, who will graduate in June from the Girls' High school.

The guests will include the members of the Pi Sigma Theta sorority, of which Miss Bellingrath is a popular member. They are Misses Annie Reid Boswell, Marion Hodges, Rosa Lee Kamper, Mildred Stipe, Mary Leffingwell, Eleanor Lynn, Ouida Winn, Irene Leftwich, Mary Sue Lowe, Ruth Johnston and Caroline Bellingrath.

BEAUTY CHATS BY EDNA K. FORBES.

WELL KEPT HANDS.

Hands are an index of character, they indicate carelessness or fastidiousness, therefore it is impossible to over-emphasize the importance of keeping them looking nice. The worst of it, they show up not only the character of the woman herself, but of her mother and grandmothers for several generations. Good hands show good family, good blood, a family of what, last generation, we called ladies and gentlemen. They could be that, and yet work hard every day.

But slim, aristocratic hands, or wide, pudgy hands are matters of inheritance and beyond a woman's control. Nothing can be done to alter the actual shape, but a great deal can be done to alter the apparent shape of them. Moderately pointed, moderately long nails will make fat little fingers seem longer and therefore slimmer. Too pointed nails, however, will dwarf the fingers, you must experiment and find just how to have yours filed. A short hand with short fingers, but nicely shaped, looks better with nails that are not pointed, for if the hand is well shaped its shortness is an asset.

If the skin is kept white, smooth, free from scars and stains, and if the nails look freshly manicured and nicely polished, the hands will look well no matter how ordinary their shape. That's as much as any one can do either toward improving hands or making pretty ones more attractive. It's quite enough, usually. Look critically at the hands of all your friends; the perfect shape described at such length in old-fashioned novels is hardly ever to be found. As a rule, we Americans have had hands and good feet; but our hands show character if not beauty.

Polly Ann—As you only weigh 15 pounds too much you could easily get rid of this by eating less than usual at each meal, and by omitting all rich and sweet foods for a few weeks. Margaret E. N.—There is some condition in your system that causes your nails to get ridged. You can help it if you massage plenty of oil into them every day. Whenever your hands become aggravated with water, you should rub some oil into such nails, as they have been depleted of the natural oils and the trouble becomes aggravated unless you keep the nails softened by supplying oil to them again.

Those participating in this recital were: Misses Amanda Sneed, Rosalind Wilhoit, Jamie Rhodes, Verna Massey, Kathleen Callahan, Margaret Worley, Ocie Matthews, Agnes Devore, Kate Cleveland, Odell Soyev, Mildred Bird, Lula Thompson, Allie Stone, Josephine Callahan, Ramona Masters, Steve and Hugh Smith. Miss Farmer was assisted by Mrs. William Moore, reader.

Mrs. Kops Is Popular Visitor.

Mrs. Julian de Bruyn Kops, of Savannah, the guest of her sister, Miss Rosa Woodberry, for the week. In the musical and art circles of Savannah, Mrs. Kops is greatly valued, not only for her exquisitely cultured voice, but for her trained leadership in affairs musical in that city. The opera she recently presented there received wide notice and appreciation.

Civic Club Will Stage Benefit Bridge.

The Woman's Civic club of West End will give an elaborate benefit bridge Friday, May 1, at 2:30 o'clock at the Ancker hotel. Many handsome prizes have been donated by friends of the club. Reservations may be made through Mrs. A. S. McDonald, West 222nd, and Mrs. H. M. Simpson, West 678th.

This will be the last entertainment undertaken by the present administration and a large number of tables already have been arranged for.

The executive board, which is sponsoring the benefit is composed of Mrs. Murray Browder, Mrs. Arthur Merrill, Mrs. Jesse Manry, Mrs. Joe Mack, Mrs. H. M. Simpson, Mrs. H. A. Watts, Mrs. B. W. Bird, Mrs.

Prominent Bridal Parties Are Honored at Buffet Suppers

Miss Gussie Brenner and Miss Julia Brenner entertained at a buffet supper Tuesday evening at their home on Peachtree road in compliment to Miss Dorothy Kirk and William Brenner Dunn, whose marriage will take place this evening.

The guests assembled following the wedding rehearsal and included the immediate families, close friends and bridal attendants.

The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with spring flowers carrying out the color motif of pink and white. Two tables artistically arranged were placed in the dining room. Suspended over each was a large wedding bell formed of pink crepe paper and encrusted with pink rosebuds. The table at which Miss Kirk and Mr. Dunn and their attendants were seated was covered with a handsome lace cloth over pink satin. The central decoration was a large Wedgewood bowl of pink roses, sweetpeas and snapdragons and encircling this were Wedgewood candlesticks with pink lighted tapers. At intervals on the table were dainty cupids holding pink baskets made of roses and filled with rose petals.

The table for the families and close friends was lace-covered and graced with a silver basket of vari-colored flowers. Silver candlesticks held pink tapers and the entire table was showered with smilax and sweet peas.

Throughout the house lavish decorations of pink roses, peonies and sprays of English dogwood interspersed with lighted pink tapers transformed the rooms into a setting of rare beauty.

Miss Kirk was lovely in a gown of green chiffon combined with silver lace.

Miss Gussie Brenner wore a gown of light blue georgette and lace.

Mrs. E. R. Kirk, mother of the bride-elect, was gowned in black beaded georgette.

Mrs. J. W. Peacock, the groom-elect's mother, wore a costume of white crepe and lace.

Miss Julia Brenner was gowned in a corn-colored georgette adorned with lace. Mrs. J. G. Burckhardt, aunt of the groom-elect, wore a sand colored georgette gown, elaborately beaded and trimmed with lace.

Mrs. Russell Hoyt, Jr., was gowned in brown lace.

For Miss Shedden And Mr. Foreman.

Miss Mary Shedden and Robert L. Foreman, Jr., whose marriage will be a brilliant event of this evening, were guests at a buffet supper following the wedding rehearsal Tuesday evening given by Dan Conklin at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conklin, on Peachtree.

The beautifully appointed table in the dining room was adorned with a large silver bowl of pink roses, valley lilies and baby breath. Silver candlesticks held pink lighted tapers.

Miss Shedden was lovely in a gown of pale green chiffon.

The guests included the members of the bridal party. Mr. Conklin was assisted in entertaining by his mother, Mrs. Charles Conklin.

Mrs. MacDougald Is Hostess to Visitor.

One of the loveliest parties on Tuesday's social calendar was the luncheon at which Mrs. Daniel MacDougald entertained at the Atlanta Biltmore in compliment to Mrs. Edw. T. Donnelly, of Fort Smith, Okla.

Roy Jones, will assist the chairman in entertaining. Every one is cordially invited to be present.

National Memorial week will be observed in Decatur. The Decatur Woman's club will cooperate with other organizations in the observance of the week. Mrs. E. B. Branch has been appointed chairman to represent the club. A musical program will be given in front of the court house, Decatur, Sunday morning, May 3, at 9 o'clock.

League of Women Voters Plans May Festival.

Elaborate plans are being made for the May festival which the League of Women Voters will have Saturday afternoon, May 2, in the auditorium of the John B. Gordon school house.

Miss Katherine Koch, the efficient chairman of the festival, is planning no pains to make this a beautiful affair. Many valuable prizes have been donated. These include eight Stone Mountain Memorial coins.

Ribbons and prizes will be awarded the following entries: Class 1, prettiest basket; class 2, prettiest basket of mixed flowers; class 3, basket entered by school boy or girl; class 4, basket entered by business house; class 5, prettiest basket of roses; class 6, prettiest basket of any kind of flowers; class 7, most unique basket; class 8, prettiest basket entered by men.

Classes 1, 2, 3 and 4 are limited to the eleventh ward, while the other classes are open to the city at large. All wards are urged to take part and to have their entries at the school house not later than 1 o'clock. For further particulars call Main 5137-W.

Mrs. L. H. Williams will be hostess to the ninth ward at her home, 16 Pennsylvania avenue, Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Robinson Honors Mrs. R. E. L. Hall.

Mrs. R. E. L. Hall, of Washington, D. C., who was a prominent opera visitor, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Warren D. White, was honored with a lovely bridge party by Mrs. Charles S. Robinson on Tuesday evening at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Pink and white neonies with roses and iris were used to decorate the home and score cards and favors were also in the pink and white. Those invited were Mrs. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Warren D. White, Mr. and Mrs. George Rosenbusch, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. George Coates, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Kauffman, Mr. and Mrs. Stillwell Robinson, Miss Katherine Hill, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Neely and Miss Alice MacAuley.

Baby Health Center To Be at Adair School.

You Know There Are Some Stories That Grow In Interest Every Time You Hear Them!

Here Is One of That Kind

Delightful Summer Dresses

It's a wonderful group of wonderful dresses—and the remarkable values are by no means hard to explain. At the beginning of this season we fixed this as a feature group, and have bent every effort and energy toward securing the best possible values for it. Add to this the fact of quantity buying and the hearty cooperation of manufacturers in carrying out our plan—and the result is just as natural as can be.

In this lot of exquisite dresses one finds style and quality combined with a very low price. Soft, early summer dresses in light, airy shades that are fashion's late representatives in style.

Georgettes, flowered crepes, flat and satin-back crepes, featuring principally the plain, straight lines with tiny tucks, godets and flares, gorgeous laces, flowers, etc.

There's hardly an occasion in prospect for the summer for which you cannot prepare with ease and pleasure from this excellent group. And they are values that will really delight you!

Seminary May Queen Will Be Crowned With Gala Ceremony

The first of a series of beautiful May festivals to be given next month will be the annual pageant at Washington Seminary on Friday afternoon, May 1, at 4:30 o'clock on the spacious and picturesque lawn of the seminary. Miss Nan Allen, of Buford, Ga., who was recently elected queen of the festival, followed by her court will form the processional which will be one of the beautiful features of the afternoon. Miss Dorothy Manley will act as herald and announce the queen's approach. Preceding the queen will be the two pages, Misses Betty and Babb Zuber, bearing the crown of white roses on a white satin pillow. Little Misses Emelyn Ryley and Sarah Smith will be the train bearers and Miss Marion Wolfe will be the lovely maid-of-honor to the queen.

Ladies in Waiting. The eight ladies in waiting to the fair queen will form a pretty group in the processional wearing soft white chiffon robes and carrying shepherd crooks topped with clusters of flowers in the Dresden shades. They were elected by pairs from the individual classes by the student body and include Misses Margaret Kerley and Catherine Campbell, senior class; Misses Florence Eckford and Julia Ruth Turnbow, of Texas, junior class; Misses Adeline Winston and Katherine Norcross, sophomores; Misses Cornelia Orme and Mary Preacher, freshmen. The members of the senior class, wearing gowns fashioned alike in the pastel shades of the carrying baskets of vari-colored flowers.

ers, will add loveliness and beauty to the march. Following the crowning of the queen many beautiful dance numbers will be presented in connection with the Maypole dance.

Dance Numbers. Little Miss Jacqueline Moore will represent Peter Pan in that attractive dance number. She will be surrounded by charming dancing fairies, woodland nymphs, elves, gnomes, Tinkle Bell in this lovely forest scene will be played by little Miss Beverly Rogers. Miss Vallie York will do a unique rag doll dance. Miss Marion Calhoun will be a graceful figure dancing the doll dance. Misses Mary Meador Goldsmith and Josephine Crawford will dance the Japanese dance together. Other attractive numbers to feature the program will be the Dixie dance by the sophomore and junior class; the Dutch dance, the "Yankee Doodle" dance by the eighth grade, the Mother Goose dance by the sixth grade, spring dance by seventh grade, the sailors' horn-pipe dance by seventh grade, the Pierrot and Pierrette number by the freshman class. The Maypole dance will be given by pupils in the fifth grade. Miss Virginia Turman, as the court jester, will add fun and gaiety to the occasion. The pageant is under the direction of Miss Irene Thomas, physical director of Washington Seminary. All parents, former pupils and friends of the seminary are cordially invited to attend May festival.

The Love Cycle

BY MILDRED BARBOUR

THE CALL. Mrs. Marlowe was greatly disturbed when Jane announced to her that Ellis Haynes was calling the following evening. She bewailed the meagerness of the environment in which he would have to be received and wept softly in memory of the past all through the scant supper which Jane prepared over her two-burner gas stove set on a packing box, covered with white oilcloth.

But later in the evening she recovered her spirits somewhat and set to work devising means for making the little sitting room more attractive. Jane went without lunch the next day to buy a few roses, because her mother had declared wistfully that flowers made the simplest room attractive.

As a matter of fact, there was a delightfully pleasant air about the little apartment when Ellis Haynes arrived the following evening. A few books and framed photographs, pale yellow roses in a bowl, a lamp glowing softly under a shade devised by Mrs. Marlowe's soft, pretty fingers combined to furnish an undeniable charm. Mrs. Marlowe herself wore a grey gown that was almost an evening costume. It was a relic of former glory and she had thrust a high carved comb in her pretty fluffy hair. It seemed almost, from her manner, that the young man was calling upon her rather than her daughter.

Haynes was quick to size up the situation. He bent low over the hand Mrs. Marlowe gave him with a deference which both pleased and flattered her. She was charmed by his good looks, his immaculate grooming, and his easy manner. He won her heart completely when he included her in his invitation to dine. "That young man has taste and breeding," she told Jane after he had gone. "It was sweet of him to ask me to go to dinner with you and I really hated to decline. A good dinner at a restaurant would be such a treat," she sighed wistfully, "but I knew I should refuse because dinners are expensive and I dare say he doesn't make much money, do you think?"

"I rather suppose not," Jane replied. "He's only a sort of office manager and Armstrong's doesn't pay anybody much, as I know only too well."

It was with downright amazement, therefore, that she passed the following Wednesday evening as Haynes' dinner guest. She had expected him to take her to some quiet, comfortable restaurant where there could be ordinarily good food. Instead, he ordered the cab driver to Delmonico's.

It caused her a momentary qualm. She looked down at her gown and then at her mother, who had fashioned it from one of her own, worn only once to a fashionable ball two nights before Jordan Marlowe died and left them penniless.

It was a silk brocade of a soft olive green, rich and lustrous and needing no embellishment of lace or embroidery. It brought out the deep chestnut sheen of Jane's envied hair and the faint olive tint of her smooth flesh. By contrast, her eyes fringed with her dark lashes, were dangerously and alluringly yellow. She had more than beauty that night, an arresting charm and distinction that made heads turn when Haynes escorted her proudly to a reserved table.

"Do you know how lovely you are?" he asked her when they were seated and he looked at her across the table with boldly admiring eyes. "But of course you do. Women always know their charm."

Jane looked around her with frank pleasure. "I know how lovely all the women are at the other tables," she replied laughingly. "Most of them seem to me to be real, so well cared for. Like sleek beautiful cats. Ah, what it is to be a poor working girl!"

"You belong in this world," he included the brilliant restaurant in a gesture, "not Armstrong's." She told him demurely, "So Mr. Armstrong's?" she told him demurely. "Has he started that already? Lis-

Mrs. Elwyn Clarke Is Hostess to Charming Visitors

Mrs. Elwyn Clarke entertained at a bridge-ten on Tuesday afternoon at her home in St. Charles place, Atlanta, in honor of Mrs. S. C. Leberet, of New York, the guest of Mrs. J. W. Dobbins, of Decatur, and of Mrs. T. Evans, of Ohio, guest of Mrs. Charles Adair.

The house was beautifully decorated with pink roses, carnations and sweet peas. The tea table was covered with an exquisite renaissance cloth and the centerpiece was a silver basket of pink roses. Pink tapers in silver candlesticks encircled the centerpiece, and the pink mints which were decorated with sweet peas, were held in silver compotes. The refreshments carried out the same color scheme, and the little cakes were also decorated with sweet peas.

The guest prize, top score and consolation were orchids and valley lilies. Mrs. Clarke received her guests in a lovely French blue georgette gown. Those invited were: Mrs. S. C. Leberet, Mrs. T. Evans, Mrs. J. W. Dobbins, Mrs. Charles Adair, Mrs. H. R. Donaldson, Mrs. Howard Cummins Jones, Mrs. Frank Pearson, Mrs. W. H. Durgen, Mrs. H. W. Dillon, Mrs. Joe E. Curly, Mrs. U. S. Burkett, Mrs. Harry Jones, and Mrs. T. J. Johnson, Jr.

Pollard Mission Study Class

The Pollard Mission Study class of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church will meet Thursday at 10 o'clock with Mrs. R. G. Dunwoody, 780 Piedmont avenue. This class was organized in January for the purpose of stimulating interest in mission study, and have met weekly, having studied five books during that period with an average attendance of ten. Over 50 examinations have been taken and the leader of the mission study, Mrs. J. W. Willis, expresses great delight with the progress that has been made.

Next week's study completes the last book for this session, Charles A. Cooke's "Stewardship and Missions." The class plans to disband for the summer and a "goodbye party" will be given the members May 19 at the home of Mrs. George W. Klier, 26 Penn. avenue, at 3 o'clock. A delightful program will be arranged by Mrs. W. M. Hutcheson and Mrs. Harold Koenig, followed by delicious refreshments. All members are expected to attend this reception.

ten to me, if that old fool annoys you, you tell me about it. Of course I couldn't do much, being only an insignificant clerk, but at least I could hang around his office and scold him from insulting you. Will you promise?"

"Of course," Jane agreed. "It's very nice of you to offer. But I'm sure there will be no occasion for it. Please, let's not talk shop. I want to play tonight, and forget there's such a thing as a typewriter in the whole wide world."

"You're right," he agreed with his disarming smile. "Let's start things with a cocktail and there's champagne coming, plenty of it, with sautee for the fish and a liqueur for the coffee."

Jane stared at him in amazement. For a moment, the panicky thought occurred to her that maybe he hadn't seen Delmonico's before and didn't know that this would cost him $15 a dinner was served, she knew she had been mistaken. It had obviously been ordered in advance and course by course, it indicated beyond the shadow of a doubt that it had been selected by a connoisseur of viands. Not even in the palmy days of the Marlowe ménage had she eaten such delicious food.

Looking at Haynes' handsome and distinguished figure, she wondered how he managed all this on his small weekly salary. Something lay back of it, she told herself uneasily. (Copyright, 1925, by The Constitution)

Lovely Bride Is Acquisition to Society

Photograph by Mathewson & Price, Staff Photographers.

Mrs. Thomas Whipple Connally, a lovely bride of recent date, who before her marriage was Miss Dorothy Copeland, of Auburn, N. Y. Mrs. Connally will be introduced to Atlanta society at an elaborate reception at which Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Connally will entertain at the "Homestead" May 6, and she will be a charming acquisition to the social contingent of the city.

J. T. Thomson, Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mrs. A. C. Butler.
The students derived real home economics from their course since they learned to utilize materials already on hand, only spending small sums of money. Mrs. Fred Johnson, chairman of the home economics, announced that students from the classes in interior decorating and millinery will have a "spend-the-day" party at the club house, 305 Gordon street, on Tuesday, May 2, each student being required to complete one new task alone and bring to this class meet for criticism and display.

Last Wednesday at the Tallulah meeting Miss Josephine Rhodes rendered a piano solo, "Shepherd's All and Maidens Fair," by Netie.

Methodist Circle To Give Dinner.

The members of Circle No. 4, of the Oakland City M. E. church will give a chicken dinner for benefit of the church in the basement of the church on Arlington avenue, Friday, May 1, beginning at 6 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Circle No. 4 held the first regular meeting at the home of the leader, Mrs. J. E. Bishop, 119 Langston street, Tuesday afternoon, April 21.

DeKalb Voters To Meet Friday.

The regular monthly meeting of the DeKalb League of Women Voters will be held at the East Lake club on Friday, May 1.

A luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock for 55 cents a plate. The DeKalb members of the legislature will be present.

Mrs. Charles Haden, of Atlanta, will speak. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Olin Stanton, Deatur, Mrs. Willis Davis or Mrs. Fred S. Gould, of East Lake.

Alliance Francaise To Hold Meeting.

The regular weekly meeting of the Alliance Francaise will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel, when the following program will be rendered: Continuation of the reading of "Des Causes Celebres," by Madame E. M. Torine; recitations by Madame Laure Lenoir, "Marie Damsant" and "Mon Contrat de Marriage," Mrs. Joseph Brown will read "Un Souvenir" by Edmond Rostand.

Sigma Sorority Holds Meeting.

The Sigma Sorority of the Deatur High school held its bi-weekly meeting Monday, April 20, at the home of Miss Aline Purcell, 312 Melrose avenue. The pledges for the year 1924 were initiated.

Better Homes Committee Receives Answer to Letter.

Coming rapidly in answer to the organization letter sent out to club presidents recently by Mrs. Newton C. Wing are the names of men and women appointed by their club and association presidents as members of the Atlanta Better Homes committee, who will have charge in assisting the various chairmen already appointed, in putting on Atlanta's elaborate demonstration of "Better Homes in America Week," May 10 to 17. Last year Atlanta won second prize in the national award, but will be content only with first this year.

The demonstration houses themselves this year, three in number, are alike in the purpose of demonstrating the possibility of honestly planned and built homes for those in moderate circumstances, but are different in their appeal to different groups of Atlanta society. All are in cost under $10,000, including house and grounds, which is according to the rules of the national board, of which President Coolidge is the head, with Herbert Hoover chairman of the board. Better home No. 1 is at 844 Forest road, corner of Barnett street, in the Linwood section, just off of Linwood avenue. This is being built for the committee by the Minter Homes company, on land furnished by Professor J. H. Smith, principal of Bass Junior High school. It has cost $6,750 to build, with a total of $8,750 for house and lot. Plans used were secured from the Architects Small House Service Bureau, and adapted to Atlanta conditions by Thornton Marry, well-known Atlanta architect, and the appointee of the Georgia Institute of Architects.

Demonstration home No. 2 has for chairman Mrs. John D. Evans, chairman of Americanization for the Fifth district and for the Atlanta Woman's club and Mrs. Maud Thornton Baker, teacher of Americanization Opportunity school, and will be used to demonstrate American methods of planning and furnishing to our new citizens. It consists of a five-room apartment at 159 Pulliam street, owned by G. L. Wentworth and is being entirely refurnished. Better Homes No. 3, for $3,000, built by W. C. Carson, on Currier street, between Jackson and Summitt avenues, will be demonstrated for negroes, but its charm will attract many white visitors, also.

St. Mark's Will Hold May Day Festival.

The young people's department of St. Mark's Sunday school will hold a May day festival on the church lawn Friday evening, May 1, at 7:30 o'clock.

A feature of the evening will be a coronation of the May queen. Each section of the department has a candidate for queen and is selling votes for her. Mrs. Emma Belle Evans, Mrs. Josephine Thornburgh and Miss Ruby Lide were leading Sunday.

A May pole drill will be given under direction of Miss Evelyn Doneoh. An orchestra will furnish music. Miss Emma Turner will direct the games.

Chairmen of the booth committees are: Misses Osteen, Ruby Lide, Emma Batson, Louise Williamson and Mrs. Pearl Sewell. Mrs. W. A. Dodge, Jr., is chairman of decorations. Mrs. Lon Eldridge is general chairman with Mrs. Will Thornburgh and Mrs. Otis Hatcock as her assistants.

The proceeds will go toward the financing of the department baseball team.

Fulton Chapter U. D. C. Entertains Visitors.

Fulton chapter, U. D. C., entertained Confederate veterans at the Soldiers' home, Thursday afternoon, April 23, with a delightful program. The Confederate veterans of the city and county were invited guests and a large number were present. M. B. Stroud, of the Georgia Railway and Power company, announced the numbers on the program.

The Georgia Railway and Power company quartet is a great favorite with the veterans at the home and their appearance out there is always welcomed. The quartet rendered several selections and were roundly cheered. Mrs. W. S. Woods, an accomplished musician, acted as accompanist to her son, Charles McDaniel Woods. Charles, who is only four years old, is a wonder, keeping perfect time on the drum and the rendition of Dixie called for the rebel yell and storms of applause.

Miss Cletelle McNeal, another favorite with the veterans, rendered several appropriate readings. Dr. C. L. Moore made a short talk and offered a beautiful prayer.

Refreshments were served by the committee with Mrs. J. W. Kendley, chairman, assisted by Mrs. C. L. Anderson, Mrs. W. E. Lomax, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Fincher, Miss Martha

Unique Wedding On Berry Lawn; Graduates Marry

Mount Berry, Ga., April 28.—(Special.)—The Berry schools, nationally known institution for mountain children, was the scene Sunday of a unique wedding, when Miss Willie Grace Christy of the class of 1924 became the bride of Edward J. Bible of the class of 1923. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. B. Gurley, chaplain of the schools, on the lawn of the girls' school.

The ring service was used. Miss Alice Warden, assistant musical director of the schools, played the wedding march. Before the ceremony, Hawley Wells, of the class of 1920, sang "O Promise Me." The bride's bouquet consisted of roses taken from a cluster of Luther Burbank's Martha Berry rose bushes grown on the girls' school lawn and were the first flowers ever picked from them.

Miss Cora Christy, the bride's sister, was lady of honor. Four classmates of the bride acted as bridesmaids. They were Alice Anthony, Emma Blackelder, Lavonne Keim and Lucile Morgan. W. A. Johnson, of the class of 1922, was best man. Kankakee Anderson, Penn Keener, Lester Dowdy and Charlie Claxton, all Berry students, acted as ushers. Little Martha Berry and Eva Margaret Johnson acted as flower girls. Randolph Green was ring bearer.

Miss Martha Berry, founder of the Berry schools, dressed in a homespun gown made by the girls in Sunshine cottage, gave the bride away.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was given the wedding party in Rome practice cottage, to which members of the faculty of all three schools were invited.

After the reception, the bride and groom left by auto for Rising Fawn, Ga., to visit the groom's parents. They will return to the Berry schools in the near future to take charge of one of the schools' model farms.

With School of Music, has arranged an interesting program. Mrs. Bedard will tell of the history and development of the Italian harp and fretted instruments. Other numbers will be a harp ensemble, "Melody," by Parkhurst, with Mrs. Mary Griffith Dobbs directing. This number will be played by Clayton Beverton, Frances McKenzie, Irish harp, Misses Mary Mene Moncre, Keitha Paxton, Ruth Allen, Betty Cole, Tate Conyers will play a solo, accompanied on the harp by Miss Keitha Paxton. "In Time of Roses," by Reichardt, will be a harp trio by Misses Mary M. Moncre, Ruth Allen and Keitha Paxton. Miss Keitha Paxton will play "To Spring," by Hahn.

The mandolin orchestra, directed by William Post Griffith, will play "Majesty of Dawn," by Cox. The first mandolin being, Marie Lawrence, Fay Gibbs, Ann Coffey; second mandolins, Dorris Gibbs, Marjorie Dooler, Pauline Allen; mandocellos, Marjorie Andrews, Marjorie Duncan, Ruth Allen; mandolas, Sarah Pitts, Walter Butler, Jr.; mandobasses, Mrs. Mary Griffith Dobbs; guitar, Lois Smith, and harp, Mrs. William B. Griffith.

Alpha Sigma Pi Fraternity To Give 'Sport Ball' Friday

The Alpha and Delta chapters of the Alpha Sigma Pi fraternity located at Boys' High school and University School for Boys announce the date for a "sport ball" to be given at the East Lake Country club on Friday night, May 15. The fraternity is one of the leading prep fraternities of the south and their recent successful convention sponsored by the Alpha chapter and held in Atlanta brought many guests to the city.

The idea of a "sport ball" is very novel and unique. This is the first time one has been given in Atlanta and the dance should be quite a success. Prizes will be awarded for the most original costumes. These costumes are to carry out some sport idea. "Ready for a golf game," "Current tennis costume," "At the races," and other forms of sport clothes are helpful suggestions to those who might attend.

The list of guests will include the younger and college set of Atlanta.

The hosts for the occasion will be Garrison Ballenger, Dunbar Bayley, William Beers, Marion Benson, Joe Boland, John Candler, Homer Christian, George Gwinther, John Gwinther, Jack Jetton, Richard Kane, William Kemp, Howard Kendall, William Mansfield, Richard Metzner, Arthur Merrill, Robert McCollough, Richard McKistry, Fuller Nash, Jordan Neill, Robert Stewart, Morgan Sutton, Gordon White, James Williams and Clarence Williamson of the Alpha chapter at Boys' High, and Abner Calhoun, Alfred Floyd, George Forrester, John Garner, J. T. Holler, William Hunter, Frank Murray, Julius Murray, Hugh McMillan, James Perkerson, Loyd Preacher, Emmett Rushin, Russell Timmons, Willis Timmons and John Willis of the Delta chapter at University School for Boys.

The bride, who entered with her father, was joined at the altar by the groom, who was attended by his brother, John Breshnan, where the beautiful and impressive nuptial high mass ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Henry Schomhaert with August Dorr and James Wright, priests Dorr and James Wright, as altar boys. The bride was lovely in an ensemble costume of waffle brown character, F-shaped in straight lines and worn with a becoming neoclassical hat, adorned with a broad band of burnt rose. Her flowers were brides roses and lilies of the valley, chosen after the bride, who was a handsome woman of white complexion, elaborately beaded, and a crown of roses. Mrs. Nellie Breshnan, who was a beautiful gown of blue neoclassical with a corsage of sweetpeas. Mrs. Mary Dorr was lovely in white neoclassical with a corsage of sweetpeas. Mrs. Breshnan was a charming gown of ecru neoclassical. Mrs. Breshnan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Dorr, mother of the bride. Mrs. Breshnan is a girl of unusual charm. Mrs. Breshnan is the son of the Nellie Breshnan and the late Mr. Breshnan and is one of the best young women in the city. The bride's personal maid, with Mrs. Breshnan as bridesmaid, and the late Mr. Breshnan as best man, will make their home in the Bowdoin apartments.

REGENSTEIN'S

SLAMS SALAAMS

By Louise Dooly

THE most objectionable type of feminist is the one who thinks to advance the cause of women by sarcastic depreciation of men.

Such method is as faulty as that of the salesman who would convince you of the superiority of his own product by running down that of his competitor.

Having admitted this, we shall have to admit also that there is no extenuating circumstance of the paragraphs of which we are about to be guilty.

They are suggested by a recent remarkable discovery by the president of the United States, and the further exploration of the same new idea by the vice president of the United States.

New idea? Well, it was new apparently to the president and the vice president.

We refer to the congratulations extended first by the president in his radio address marking the opening of the Women's World's Fair in Chicago, that the promoters of the enterprise should have acted on the very sound conception of establishing a budget, and so, with the best business judgment, had known beforehand what funds were necessary to finance the project, had then gone on, with a definite idea of their needs, to raise the money, and so, when the time came, they had not only the money, but also the positions since the world began, had never had the vision or exercised the good judgment to initiate.

IT ALL reminds us of a campaign for women members put on by the chamber of commerce of a certain city which up to that time held its membership sacred to men.

A chamber of commerce is supposed to look to the commercial interests of the city at large, but it is only recently of course, as we all know, that it was deemed necessary to have the possible commercial interests of the women represented by needs, or their possible wisdom as to commercial progress put at the public service through membership on boards of trade.

One woman, a hard worker in the campaign, asked a newspaper woman for the strongest publicity she could give a list of about 14 points showing why women should join the chamber.

The newspaper woman looked 'em over, and found some quite telling: "An established medium for the cooperative strength of women, working with the city's most representative men, for the civic welfare; closer acquaintance for the women with civic needs, and tried methods of getting these needs met," etc.

Such reasons were all very plausible. But—"What's this?" exclaimed the newspaper woman as she ran her eyes over a paragraph which read somewhat like this:

"That the women, through working with the men, may come in closer contact with and get a better understanding and appreciation of men's methods in business."

The newspaper woman, her face full of surprise, looked the campaign worker straight in the eye.

"You have had opportunity to know what is the average man's business efficiency, and yet you have the temerity to suggest that women as a whole, who may still have some illusions, be exposed to a knowledge of what the masculine efficiency really is.

"Now I must say that hitherto I've had no regard for your sincerity. 'Also, if you say so, that paragraph shall be used. But how can you?"

"You are a sinner," said the campaigner, and she laughed.

"Shall I put that paragraph in?" persisted the newspaper woman.

"Well, a lot of women joined, and some women, like some men—as, for instance, the distinguished national figures quoted while back—will believe that all the efficiency and the system in business in the world rests with men.

What difference does it make whether Point Number 14 was included in the campaign propaganda?"

SPEAKING OF FEMINISM.

OPERA talk at a dinner party the other night made the hostess reminiscent of a former season when the Belgian wife of one of our opera principals accompanied her husband South, and both were several times the guests of the Atlanta woman.

"When the wife of the Belgian wife if she would do this or that, she would answer, 'I ask my husband.' 'I had to tell her finally that the difference between Americans and Europeans is that with Europeans it is the wife when anything is to be done, who always asks her husband, and with Americans the husband is the one who must invariably ask his wife.'"

That brought about some comment on the recent appointment of an American woman to the diplomatic service abroad—Miss Lucile Atherson, who has now for three years been training in Washington, and has recently been made third secretary to the embassy in Switzerland.

"And why not?" a man remarked. "Women have always been and had to be, diplomats in home and social life, unlearned and untrained. Why should they not transfer their long cultivated habits in this line to the broader service of their country?"

"Why not, indeed?" was the general remark, but it was noticeable that there was more of a masculine rumble to this feminist acclamation of it.

"We have women governors, doing very well, thank you," contributed another man, "and women congressmen, and make an efficient president. Of course," he added, "women have got to want high public office more than they seem to as yet, before such a chance looms for them."

And then nobody took the seriousness out of the talk with the story of Mandy and her third husband.

"No," agreed this speaker, "the women as a whole are not yet keen about political jobs or diplomatic. If they were, they'd get 'em."

"Mandy," he explained, "was being congratulated. 'Why, most women of your age think they are doing well if they have been able to get one husband,' said a white friend of Mandy's, 'and here you have got your third. You certainly have lots of luck.'"

"Luck," snorted Mandy disdainfully. "The ain't no luck about it. Ah just got out and hustled."

ELBERTON SUFFERS FROM UP-TOWN FIRE

Elberton, Ga., April 28.—Fire originating in Mize's cafe, on North McIntosh street, about 2 o'clock this morning, caused a loss of about $350,000, three-fourths covered by insurance.

R. E. Hodge's Livery stable, Granite City bakery, Gordon Bell, J. E. Higginbotham, Worley & Grimes, market, J. W. Sanders and W. T. Tessler suffered total losses. Some damage was done to the Southern Bell Telephone building and buildings on opposite side of the street were scorched.

GEN. WALTER HARRIS SPEAKS TO VETERANS

Sparta, Ga., April 28.—(Special.) Confederate Memorial day was observed here today as the 29th fell on Sunday. Hundreds of school children met at the Confederate monument on court square at 10 o'clock and marched to the cemetery where they placed flowers on the graves of the Confederate dead.

The program was made up of songs and the principal address of the day by General Walter A. Harris, of Macon. He spoke of the valiant deeds of many old heroes of the south and urged the younger generation to emulate their example. He made a splendid address.

Clubs of this county, now has only 15 members living, 13 having died during the past year. The exercises closed with a barbecue dinner for the veterans and their wives in the court house.

Prevent tooth decay below the gum-line

As the soil nourishes the tree roots, the gums nourish the teeth. And as the tree decays if you bare the roots, so do the teeth decay when gum shrinkage starts in.

This condition—one of the first stages of Pyorrhea—is very common and something that ordinary tooth pastes are powerless to prevent. If not checked promptly it will lead to loss of teeth and serious organic diseases.

If used in time and used consistently twice daily, Forhan's will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. It will preserve the gums in their pink, normal, healthy condition, safeguard your health and keep your mouth clean, fresh and wholesome.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Rumors of Strike Of City Employees Quelled by Leaders

Rumors of an impending strike of several hundred city employees were quieted Tuesday by announcements of officials of the City and County Public Service Employees' union that under the charter of that organization, members cannot strike.

Men mentioned in the threatened strike include between 100 and 150 laborers in the construction department, of which 50 are drivers, and practically all laborers in the sanitary department.

According to reports the construction department employees in a to appear before the street committee of council Friday and demand a wage increase. If the request is not granted, according to Councilman John A. White, chairman of the committee, it will not be the plan is said to be for the men to meet at a session of the local union Thursday night, with the probability that they would strike Monday morning.

However, the announcement of officers of the organization to which they belong apparently puts an end to any possibility of a strike. Chief Hansell said Tuesday that he did not fear a strike, as he can replace all laborers in his department in a day's time.

In the Garden With Burbank

As Reported by Elizabeth Urquhart

Foreword from Mr. Burbank

This series of articles has been prepared by Mrs. Urquhart by my aid and permission for the benefit of all who may not know how to proceed in the delightful health giving pastime of home gardening, and to relieve me of thousands of letters to which I have no time for reply.

Elizabeth Urquhart

SHRUBS. Making a plan for the garden as suggested earlier to the amateur, might, with advantage, be repeated here in planning the shrubbery. If carefully worked out, the effect will be most pleasing and there is no reason why shrubbery masses, and skyline and vistas and house outlooks should not be considered as with large grounds. A garden should be like a bit of nature—a landscape on a small scale, and nature's ways should always be studied.

The flowering shrubs may be grouped in front of the trees and the taller shrubs and when their bloom they will stand out like so many pictures in front of their leafy background. First one group will blossom and then another, until they all come in and some of them will be particularly harmonious, if due care has been exercised in regard to color, height and blossoming season.

"Which of these will be suitable for hedges and wind breaks?" asked the amateur. "Burrhead," asked the expert. "Boxwood for very low hedges," answered Mr. Burbank, "nannyberry, orange orange, privet for tall hedges, the altheas and the spiraea are all good; and for massing against the foundations of the house, the deutzias, hydrangeas, snowberries, bush honeysuckle, forsythia and weigela.

"How is one to know where to plant shrubs—sun or shade?" Mr. Burbank answered: "Nearly all of them rejoice in the sun, but for shady places you may plant the azalea, hydrangea, rhododendron, snowberry, privet and viburnum."

"After a while they will manufacture their own mulch, and the dead leaves instead of being raked off, may be turned in, or left on the surface, especially with evergreens."

"That a beautiful arrangement of nature for the tree to give back some of the food that it has taken from the soil, to be used again," said the amateur, who was learning many things.

"All of nature's arrangements are beautiful," answered the chief, "if only we study them and understand them, and not only for garden trees and shrubbery in cultivation of benefit, but to trees in nature's own garden as well; they, too, respond to care and cultivation and show immediate improvement."

"I once saw an oak tree, more than 800 years old, which had just been cut down, and on examining the cross section, I saw that the outer rings showed a much more rapid growth than the inner rings. On inquiring into its history, I found, by counting the rings, that the new growth dated back to the time when the land had first been cultivated (just 52 years before), and that the tree had been at once affected by the turning of the soil and subsequent improvement."

This was a new idea to the student, who said:

"According to this, even forest trees might be stimulated to improved growth by cultivation?"

Mr. Burbank answered:

"Surely—cultivation is now a part of forestry."

Tomorrow—Mr. Burbank will tell more about shrubs.

LOS ANGELES SLATED TO START TRIP TODAY

Lakehurst, N. J., April 28.—If the weather bureau's prediction of fair weather materializes, the naval dirigible Los Angeles will leave here at noon tomorrow for its Porto Rican cruise, Commander Steele said tonight.

The ship has been kept at its mooring mast since last night. Rain has soaked the outer covering of the gas bag and Commander Steele said he would not attempt the flight until the sun has dried out its covering and increased its lift capacity. The ship will remain fastened to the mooring mast throughout the night.

The Lost World

BY SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

From the side of the plateau on which we were, slopes of woodland, with occasional glades, stretched down five or six miles to the central lake. I could see at my very feet the glade of the iguanodons, and farther off was a round opening in the trees which marked the swamp of the pterodactyls. On the side facing me, however, the plateau presented a very different aspect. There the basalt cliffs of the outside were reproduced upon the inside, forming an escarpment about 200 feet high, with a woody slope beneath it. Along the base of these cliffs, I could see a number of dark holes through the glass, which I conjectured to be the mouths of caves. At the opening of one of these something white was shimmering, but I was unable to make out what it was. I sat charting the country until the sun had set and it was so dark that I could no longer distinguish details. Then I climbed down to my companions waiting for me so eagerly at the bottom of the great tree. For once I was the hero of the expedition. Alone I had thought of it, and alone I had done it; and here was the chart which would save us a month's climbing among unknown dangers. Each of them shook me solemnly by the hand.

But before they discussed the details of my map I had to tell them of my encounter with the ape-man among the branches.

"He has been there all the time," said I.

"How do you know that?" asked Lord John.

"Because I have never been without the feeling that something malevolent was watching us. I mentioned it to you, Professor Challenger."

"Our young friend certainly said something of the kind. He is also the one among us who is endowed with that Celtic temperament which would make him sensitive to such impressions."

"The whole theory of telepathy," began Summerlee, filling his pipe. "Is too vast to be now discussed," said Challenger, with decision. "Tell me, now," he added, with the air of a bishop addressing a Sunday school, "did you happen to observe whether the creature could cross its thumb over its palm?"

"No, indeed."

"Had it a tail?"

"No."

"Was the foot prehensile?"

"I do not think it could have made off so fast among the branches if it could not get a grip with its feet."

"In South America there are, if my memory serves me—yes, you will check the observation, Professor Summerlee—some 36 species of monkeys, but the anthropoid ape is unknown. It is clear, however, that he exists in this country, and that he is not the hairy, gorilla-like variety, which is never seen out of Africa or the east."

"(I was inclined to interpolate, as I looked at him, that I had seen his first cousin in Kensington.)"

"This is a whiskered and colorless type, the latter characteristic pointing to the fact that he spends his days in arboreal seclusion. The question, then, we have to face is whether he approaches more closely to the ape or the man. In the latter case, he may well approximate to what the vulgar have called the 'missing link.' The solution of this problem is our immediate duty."

"It is nothing of the sort," said Summerlee, abruptly. "Now that through the intelligence and activity of Mr. Malone (I cannot help quoting the words) we have got down to the bottom of this awful place."

"The flesh-pots of civilization," Challenger.

"The ink-pots of civilization, sir. It is our task to put on record what we have seen, and to leave the further exploration to others. You all agreed as much before Mr. Malone got us the chart."

"Well," said Challenger. "I admit that my mind will be more at ease when I am assured that the result of our expedition has been conveyed to our friends. How long to get down from this place I have not as yet an idea. I have never yet encountered any problem, however, which my inventive brain was unable to solve, and I promise you that tomorrow I will turn my attention to the question of our descent."

And so the matter was allowed to rest.

But that evening, by the light of the fire and of a single candle, the first map of the lost world was elaborated. Every detail which I had roughly noted from my watchtower was drawn out in its relative place. Challenger's pencil hovered over the great blank which marked the lake.

"What shall we call it?" he asked.

"Why should you not take the chance of perpetrating your own name?" said Summerlee, with his usual touch of acidity.

"I trust, sir, that my name will have other and more personal claims upon posterity," said Challenger, severely. "Any ignoramus can hand down his worthless memory by imposing it upon a mountain or a river. I need no such monument."

Summerlee, with a twisted smile, was about to make some fresh assault when Lord John hastened to intervene.

"It's up to you, young fellow to name the lake," said he. "You saw it first, and, by all means, you choose to put 'Lake Malone' on it, no one has a better right."

By all means. Let our young friend give it a name," said Challenger.

"Then," said I, blushing, I dare say, as I said it, "let it be named Lake Gladys."

"Don't you think the Central lake would be more descriptive?" remarked Summerlee.

"I should prefer Lake Gladys."

Challenger looked at me sympathetically, and shook his great head in mock disapproval. "Boys will be boys," said he. "Lake Gladys let it be."

CHAPTER XII.

"It was Dreadful in the Forest."

I have said—or perhaps I have not said, for my memory plays me sad tricks these days—that I glowed with pride when three such men as my comrades thanked me for having saved, or at least greatly helped, the situation. As the youngsters of the party, not merely in years, but in experience, character, knowledge, and all that goes to make a man, I had been overshadowed from the first. And now I was coming into my own. I warmed at the thought. Alas! for the pride which goes before a fall! That little glow of self-satisfaction, that added measure of self-confidence, were to lead me on that very night to the most dreadful experience of my life, ending with a shock which turns my heart sick when I think of it.

It came about in this way. I had been unduly excited by the adventure of the tree, and sleep seemed to be impossible. Summerlee was on guard, sitting hunched over our small fire, a quaint, angular figure, his rifle across his knees and pointed, goat-like beard wagging with each weary nod of his head. Lord John lay silent, wrapped in the South American poncho which he wore, while Challenger snored with a roll and rattle which reverberated through the woods. The full moon was shining brightly, and the air was crisply cold. What a night for a walk! And then suddenly came the thought, "Why not?" Suppose I stole softly away, suppose I made my way down to the central lake, suppose I was back at breakfast with some record of the place—would I not in that case be thought an even more worthy associate? Then, if Summerlee carried the day and some means of escape were found, we should return to London with first-hand knowledge of the central mystery of the plateau, to which I alone, of all men, would have penetrated. I thought of Gladys, with her "There are humans all round us," I seemed to hear her voice as she said it. I thought also of McArdle. What a three-column article for the paper! What a foundation for a career! A correspondence in the next great war might be within my reach. I clutched at a gun—my pockets were full of cartridges—and, parting the thorn bushes at the gate of our zareba, quickly slipped out. My last glance showed me the unconscious Summerlee, most futile of sentinels, still nodding away like a queer mechanical toy in front of the smouldering fire.

I had not gone a hundred yards before I deeply repented my rashness. I may have said somewhere in the chronicle that I am too imaginative to be a really courageous man, but that I have an overpowering fear of seeming afraid. This was the power which now carried me onwards. I simply could not slink back with nothing done. Even if my comrades should not have missed me, and should never know of my weakness, there would still remain some intolerable self-shame in my own soul. And yet I shuddered at the position in which I found myself, and would have given all I possessed at that moment to have been honorably free of the whole business.

It was dreadful in the forest. The trees grew so thickly and I could see nothing of the moonlight save that here and there the high branches, under a tangled filigree against the starry sky. As the eyes became more used to the obscurity one learned that there were different degrees of darkness among the trees—that some were dimly visible, while between and among them there were coal-black shadowed patches, like the moor in the caves, from which I shrank in horror as I passed. I thought of the despairing yell of the tortured iguanodon—that dreadful cry which had echoed through the woods. I thought, too, of the glimpse I had in the light of Lord John's torch of that blood-dripping, blood-slaving monster, even as I was on its hunting-ground. At an instant it might spring upon me from the shadows, and I shuddered. I opened the breach of my gun. As I touched the lever my heart leaped within me. It was the shot-gun, not the rifle, which I had taken!

Again the impulse to return swept over me. Here, surely, was a most excellent reason for my failure—one for which no one would think the less of me. But again the foolish pride fought against that very word, "could not"—must not—fail. After all, my rifle would probably have been as useless as a shot-gun against such dangers as I might meet. If I were to go back to camp to change my weapon I could hardly expect to enter and leave again without being seen. In that case there would be explanations, and my attempt would no longer be all my own. After a little hesitation, then, I screwed up my courage and continued upon my way, my useless gun under my arm.

The darkness of the forest had been alarming, but even worse was the white, still flood of moonlight in the open glade of the iguanodons. Hidden among the bushes, I looked out at it. None of the great brutes were in sight. Perhaps the tragedy which had befallen one of them had driven them from their feeding-ground. In the misty, silvery night I could see no sign of any living thing. Taking courage, therefore, I slipped rapidly across it, and among the jungle on the farther side I picked up once again the brook which was my guide. It was a cheery companion, gurgling and chuckling as it ran, like the dear old trout-stream in the West Country where I have fished at night in my boyhood. So long as I followed it down I must come to the lake, and so long as I followed it back I must come to the camp. Often, too, I could see the light of the moon through the light shone clearly through the membranous wings, and it looked like a flying skeleton against the white, tropical radiance. I crouched low among the bushes, for I knew from past experience that with a single cry the creature could bring a hundred of its loathsome mates about my neck. It was not until it had settled again that I dared to steal onwards upon my journey.

You're Going on a Long Journey

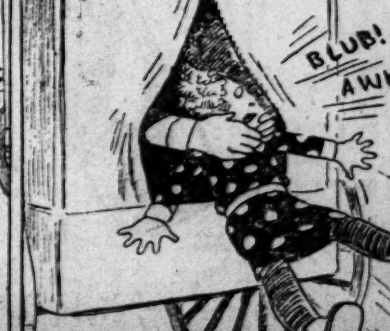

HOT ALLIGATOR - GYPSIES - AND THERE'S CAMPED RIGHT DOWN THE ROAD JUST BEYOND THE COW PASTURE - GUESS I'LL AMBLE DOWN AND LOOK 'EM OVER -

MRS. SILO SAID ALWAYS TO STAY AWAY FROM GYPSIES BUT I DON'T SEE ANYTHING TO BE SCARED ABOUT - THEY'RE JUST CAMPING SAME AS -

BLUB! AWK!

YES WE'VE HAD A LOT OF MISERABLE WEATHER.

I DON'T THINK SO.

THE GUMPS—SPRING FEVER

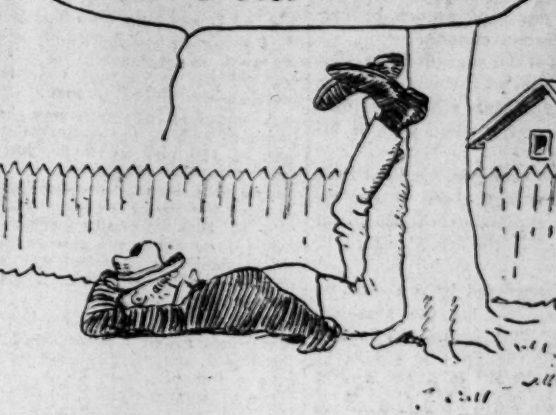

AFTER READING ALL THESE BOOKS AND HEARING TONS OF ADVICE ON HOW TO GET THIN, WHAT TO EAT AND WHAT NOT TO EAT, I'M GOING TO TRY A LITTLE TRICK OF MY OWN - I'M GOING TO LIE HERE AND LIE HERE AND LIE HERE - I WON'T EAT ANYTHING AND I WON'T DRINK ANYTHING

IF I DON'T EAT OR DRINK ANYTHING I CAN'T GET ANY FATTER THAN I AM - I'VE GOT TO REDUCE - THEN SAY IF YOU LEAVE A SLICE OF BACON OUT IN THE SUN IT WILL SHRIVEL AWAY - SO I'LL PRETEND I'M A SLICE OF BACON - I'LL JUST SIT HERE AND LET THE SUN SHRIVEL ME UP TILL THERE'S NOTHING LEFT BUT A LONG LEAN SHADOW -

YOU WORK TWO POUNDS OFF AND IT MAKES YOU SO HUNGRY YOU EAT FOUR POUNDS ON - EVEN IF THIS STUNT DOESN'T PROVE A SUCCESS AS A REDUCING STUNT THE REST WILL DO ME GOOD -

MOON MULLINS—THE FRESH AIR FUND

HELLO MOON, WE'VE GOT THAT COLORED BOY YOU THINK YOU'RE GOING TO MAKE A PRIZE FIGHTER OF IN THE HOOSGOW - AND HE WANTS TO KNOW WHEN YOU'RE GOING TO BAIL HIM OUT.

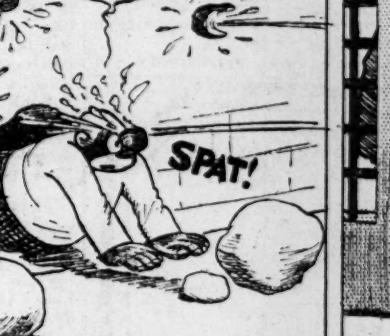

NOT TILL HE GETS INTO SOME KIND OF CONDITION, MAHONEY - I SHOULD PAY BOARD FOR HIM AND WORRY ABOUT HIS GETTING ENOUGH EXERCISE WHEN THE COUNTRY'LL FURNISH ALL THAT FREE -

WELL, I'LL BE -

FEVVEN'S SAKE!

UH-HUH TRYIN' TO MAKE A GET AWAY, HUH?

SOMEBODY'S STENOGR—Just Sew-Sew

IF YOU KEEP ON EMBROIDERING FUNNY FIGURES ON THAT DOLLY DURING BUSINESS HOURS YOU'LL FIND SOME FUNNY FIGURES IN YOUR PAY ENVELOPE!

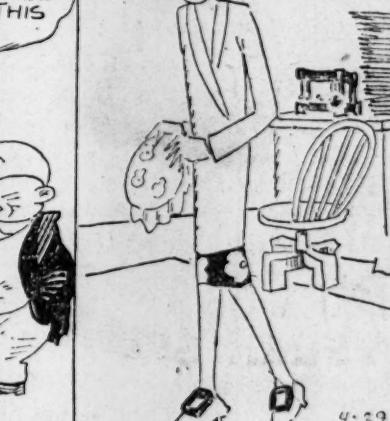

GONE! GONE FOR THE DAY, FORGETTING TO DO HALF HER WORK! LOOK AT THAT PILE SHE WAS SUPPOSED TO FINISH BEFORE SHE QUIT!

OH BOSS, I HAD TO COME BACK - I FORGOT SOMETHING!

MY EMBROIDERY.

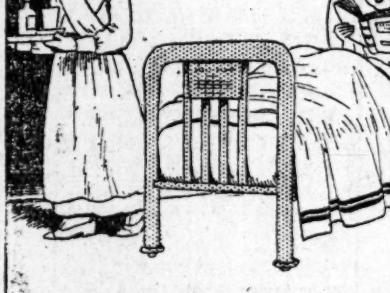

WINNIE WINKLE THE BREADWINNER

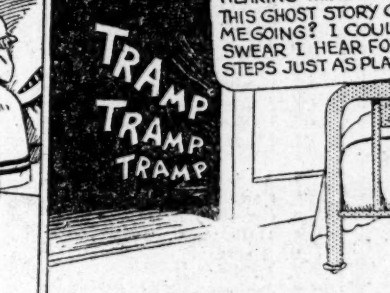

The Charge of the Knife Brigade

I DON'T THINK IT'S GOOD FOR YOU TO BE READING AT NIGHT MISS WINKLE. YOU OUGHT TO GO TO SLEEP!

I'M JUST GOING TO READ FOR A LITTLE WHILE. THIS BOOK OF GHOST STORIES IS AWFUL INTERESTING!!!

ALL WAS QUIET IN THE OLD HOUSE, WHEN SUDDENLY HE HEARD A FAINT SOUND OF MANY TRAMPING FEET DOWN THE LONG HALL. THEY CAME - TRAMP TRAMP TRAMP LOUDER AND LOUDER -

ARE YOU SURE IT'S HIS VERMIFORM APPENDIX? WELL, OPEN HIM UP FIRST AND SEE!

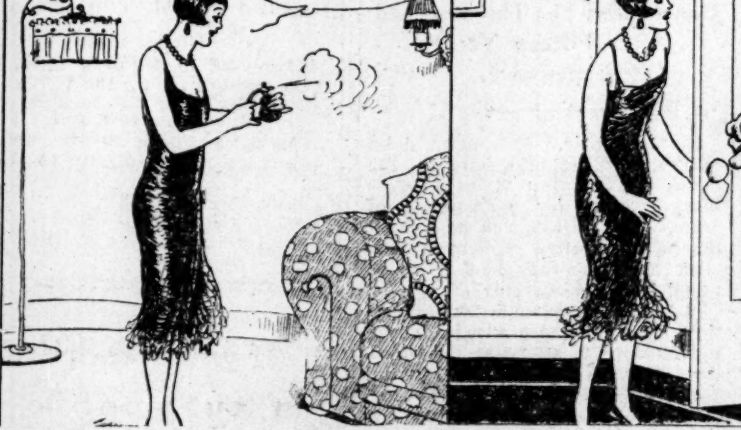

OH NURSE!

GASOLINE ALLEY—STAGE SET UP, BUT TOO MANY ACTORS

EVERYTHING IS ALL STAGED FOR WALT - LIGHTS LOW - COZY CHAIRS AND SOFA CUSHIONS. THERE'S THE BELL NOW.

YOU, OMAR!

I JUST COULDN'T STAY AWAY, PHYLLIS. I HAD TO COME AND SEE IF YOU'D RECONSIDER.

I'M SO GLAD YOU'VE COME, WALT. I'VE BEEN EXPECTING YOU.

I'M TICKLED PINK PHYLLIS.

IT'S SEEMED LIKE SUCH A LONG TEDIOUS SPRING.

YES WE'VE HAD A LOT OF MISERABLE WEATHER.

I DON'T THINK SO.

New York, April 23.—The cotton market showed two distinct movements today, the first being moderate upward, with July reaching 24.25 and October 24.65, from 11 to 10 points net higher. From these levels the market sustained a sharp decline which carried prices 14 to 27 points net lower. The close was steady at a net loss of 7 to 22 points.

Although notices were issued of intention to deliver 110,000 bales on May contracts, the cotton was bought back so promptly by the market that the notices, that the market failed to be adversely affected by the news and after opening a few points higher continued to advance moderately throughout the forenoon. An interesting feature of the spot situation was rumor that a house frequently acting for Japanese firms was absorbed for in excess of 10,000 bales, which quantity, it was assumed by the trade, they would eventually ship out of the local stock. There was some buying on the part of favorable financial news and in other markets which for a time offset further reports of rains in the southwest and the generally favorable character of the weather and crop news.

A feature of the early trading was the reduction of the May discount under July of 12 points, around the opening, to 22 points. Falling to receive much aid in the way of outside support, however, the market gradually yielded to an increasing number of bearish crop and weather reports to which was added a general belief that the weekly government weather report on Wednesday would reflect recent improved conditions all over the belt. In the decline which followed this New York July declined 23.02 and October to 23.75, from which level there was a slight improvement at the close, although the undertone of the market continued very nervous.

Exports today 6,255 bales, making 1,425,432 so far this season.

Port receipts, 8,834. U. S. port stock, 734,130.

SPOTS IN NEW YORK.

New York, April 23.—Cotton spot quiet; middling 24.06.

QUIET MARKET AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, April 23.—The cotton market was a comparatively quiet affair today and the general trend was downward although at the start prices improved owing to the prompt shipment of May notices in New York. First trades were 8 to 9 points up and during the morning October climbed up 22 to 23 points net higher compared with yesterday's close. That month declined 33 points during the later trading to 23.34 and closed at 23.37, 17 points down from the day's start. The general list declined 8 to 17 points on the day.

It was reported that notices for 120,000 bales of May deliveries were issued in New York and promptly stopped by the interests issuing them. This exerted a stimulating influence during the first half of the morning helped by good cable news from London in sterling exchange to a new high point since the war. The report that the British chancellor of the exchequer stated in parliament that the prohibition on the export of gold was to be removed at once was taken to mean that Great Britain would go back to the gold standard.

The weakness of the second half of the session which carried July down to 23.97, or 30 points below the early highs, was due to heavy rain, although the downward trend was checked for a time by reports of a cold wave and fears of possible frost.

A northern private authority estimated the acreage increase at 4 per cent. The afternoon weakness was enhanced by fears of a very favorable weekly government weather and crop report tomorrow. It is believed that this report will show the benefit of recent western rains.

The slight rally at the end was due to moderate covering induced probably by the possible effect of England and the Netherlands restoring the gold standard.

Exports today, 6,255 bales.

WAYCROSS CHILD NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH IN WATER

Waycross, Ga., April 23.—(Special.) Margaret Higgs, adopted daughter of Mrs. Maggie Higgs of this city, narrowly escaped drowning yesterday afternoon in the Satilla river near here.

Mrs. Higgs, with a party of friends, had been spending the day on the banks of the river, and in the afternoon were seated near the edge of the water, when it was discovered that the little girl had gone too near the river and had fallen in.

By rescue was able to reach the dress of the little girl and draw her to the bank.

Though seemingly dead, efforts at resuscitation were successful.

1,000 ARE EXPECTED AT DIXIE HIGHWAY MEETING IN FALL

The tenth anniversary of the Dixie highway will be celebrated in Atlanta next October with an attendance of more than 1,000 prominent people, living along the route, who will arrive in a motorcade of about 300 automobiles.

Mountain and similar festivities are planned. M. M. Allison, of Chattanooga, president of the Dixie Highway association, will be present. It was announced Tuesday by Frank Reynolds, secretary of the Georgia Automobile association, and resident manager of the Ansley hotel.

WYATT EXHIBITING ART AT BILTMORE

A. C. Wyatt, internationally known artist, is exhibiting a series of 50 of his water-color paintings this week at the Biltmore hotel under auspices of the Peachtree Garden club.

The pictures are representations of the flower gardens of Queen Mary at Windsor castle and Sandringham, and of Magnolia gardens at Charleston. The artist received his training at the Royal Institute of Painters and Water Colors, London.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, April 23.—While trading was exceedingly quiet, the market showed good strength. Bulls were particularly strong. Western Pacific supposedly due for a speculative rally, such as Southern Railway, 1. showing individual strength. Reports from Washington stated information on the business situation in England. Coalidge spoke of conditions as most favorable. Total sales 801,400 shares.

LIVINGTON & CO.

New York, April 23.—The bulls in this very mixed market seem to provide still the safest means of speculation. We believe in speculative rally such as Southern Railway, 1. showing individual strength. Reports from Washington stated information on the business situation in England. Coalidge spoke of conditions as most favorable. Total sales 801,400 shares.

Waycross, Ga., April 23.—(Special.) Margaret Higgs, adopted daughter of Mrs. Maggie Higgs of this city, narrowly escaped drowning yesterday afternoon in the Satilla river near here.

Mrs. Higgs, with a party of friends, had been spending the day on the banks of the river, and in the afternoon were seated near the edge of the water, when it was discovered that the little girl had gone too near the river and had fallen in.

By rescue was able to reach the dress of the little girl and draw her to the bank.

Though seemingly dead, efforts at resuscitation were successful.

Trend Of Municipal Financing

Following a rather sharp decline during February, new issues of long term bonds by American states, municipalities, counties and other political subdivisions increased again in March to approximately as high as the total as that recorded for the corresponding month of 1924, according to statistics compiled by the Daily Bond Buyer. The Daily Bond Buyer, however, is of the opinion that in as much as new issues of state and municipal bonds attained in the second quarter of 1924 the unprecedented total of $339,705,424, such public borrowing during these next three months will fall considerably below the 1924 figure of the same period.

The Day in Finance

New York, April 23.—Fully 90 per cent of the transactions now appearing on the tape originate on the stock exchange floor representing buying or selling by professional traders who make no stand but who try to make a living by guessing the direction of the narrow price changes. The big outside public is no longer in the stock market and is not likely to be until the general outlook becomes clearer.

A change is taking place in the judgment of the financial district regarding the possible outcome of the German election. The feeling of the average Wall Street man yesterday was that in electing Hindenburg the German people had made the latest and most likely the best choice in their dealings with other countries, some of whom are trying to help her get back on her feet. As a result of the widely published reassuring statements of such recognized leaders as Secretary Mellon and Judge Gary, however, what was said in Wall Street yesterday about the German election has been forgotten and the average man here today was quickly to recover economic stability.

ACCIDENTS INCREASE THROUGHOUT NATION

Four hundred and twenty-three lives were snuffed out during the month of March in automobile accidents throughout the country, according to reports issued by the Atlanta safety council.

The figures were compiled by the national safety council in 80 cities having a total population of more than 100,000. Of these cities also reported 108 other fatal public accidents, while 37 cities reported 180 fatal home accidents.

MRS. WOOLF INDICTED ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Mrs. Sam Woolf, of 170 Capitol avenue, Tuesday was indicted by Fulton county grand jury on charges of violating the prohibition laws following a raid on her home Sunday, in which officers are said to have taken 600 quarts of rye, gin, Scotch and Irish liquors.

The contraband was found secreted in a trap ceiling on the third floor, and officers stated, Mrs. Woolf declined to make a statement concerning charges against her.

JUVENILE CRIME DISCUSSED HERE BY JUDGE WATKINS

Judge Garland M. Watkins, of Fulton county juvenile court, Tuesday spoke on juvenile delinquency at the regular luncheon meeting of the Co-operative club at the Piedmont hotel. He told of the growing criminal tendency among children and advocated "education—physical, mental and moral—as the best known means of curbing crime."

AGENTS CAPTURE "PILOT" RUM CAR; ARREST DRIVER

Seizure of a "pilot" liquor car which escaped federal prohibition agents six weeks ago in a chase in Forsyth county was reported to Fred Disimkus, prohibition director, Tuesday.

The automobile was seen on a downtown street in Atlanta six weeks ago. They seized the car and placed under arrest a man who said his name was Otis Wood.

BIG GAINS SCORED IN WHEAT MARKET

Chicago, April 23.—Reports that the British government had arranged for $300,000,000 credit in the United States were largely responsible for a lively advance in grain prices today. The wheat market closed strong at the day's top figures, 3 3/4 to 5 1/4 cents a bushel net higher. May $1.40 1/4-1.49 3/4 and July $1.40 1/4-1.49 3/4 with corn 1 1/4 to 1 3/8 cents gain, and provisions ranging from 20 cents decline to a rise of 12 cents.

TRADING IS FULL IN CURB MARKET

New York, April 28.—Trading in today's curb market was extremely dull with prices generally moving within rather narrow and irregular limits.

Chief interest in the oil group centered in the activity of Humble, which advanced nearly two points to 48 3/4, the most of the other active issues showing similar fractional gains. There were several strong spots in the industrial group Dux and Chrysler each showing net gains of two points at 23 and 79, respectively. Gillette Safety Razor moved up a point and the new Gabriel Snubler stock crossed 27 to a new high. Increased activity in the new Dodge common was attributed to the approach of "settlement day" for "when issued" contracts.

Movements in the public utility group were generally unimportant, the only changes of consequence being advanced 1 and 1 1/2 points respectively in National Power and Light and American Gas and Electric.

In the bond list Krupp T retained the 1 3/8 points they lost yesterday in the selling inspired by the news of Hindenburg's election.

POSTAL DEPARTMENT LIFTS BAN ON HARVARD MAGAZINES

Thomson, Ga., April 28.—More than 500 citizens of McDuffie county, led by Sheriff Norris and his deputies today continued their search for Lex Jordan, a negro boy about 18 years old, who, on Monday morning, shot to death A. G. Adams, 35, prominent merchant and farmer of Hamilton Cross Road, about 10 miles north of here.

Although it was thought that the negro would try to make his way to South Carolina, as he is reported to be a native of that state, it is now believed that he is hiding in a stretch of swamp near the Savannah river between Hamilton Cross Road and Wilkes county. A lookout is being kept by both Wilkes and Warren county citizens.

According to information given by two negroes employed on a lumber truck with Jordan, 22 years of age, from the truck after firing six shots into the body of Mr. Adams and making his escape in the direction of the Wilkes county line. Bloodhounds put on a trail followed the route of the negro to a point near the river, at which point the trail was lost.

Searching parties continued the man-hunt throughout the night. Those who hunted for Jordan yesterday were relieved by fresh parties during the evening. A number of men have gone from Thomson to assist the sheriff and his officers.

The use of bloodhounds has been abandoned due to the fact that a description of the fugitive was given out at the sheriff's office as follows: Age, about 20; weight, about 150 pounds; six inches long; scar on throat about six inches long; short mustache.

JOHN E. SMITH DIES AT TENNILE HOME

Sandersville, Ga., April 28.—(Special.)—John E. Smith, 68, prominent Washington county citizen, died at Tennille yesterday after 10 days' illness. For 16 years Mr. Smith was a member of the county board of roads and revenue. He had been chairman. Under his able administration the county adopted the plan of replacing wooden bridges with concrete and steel. He had been built over Buffalo creek on the Dixie highway between Milledgeville and Sandersville at a cost of $55,000. Mr. Smith sponsored many other improvements in road building in this county and for years spent much of his time in perfecting plans for better highways. He made the first purchase for the county of motorized road machinery.

Mr. Smith was well known throughout the state as a religious civic and political leader and was a man of sterling character who endeared himself to all who knew him intimately. As a farmer, he was one of the best in the state and from time to time introduced many innovations in farm work and was a close touch with the state department of agriculture and had perfected a special variety of cotton seed that he sold to growers to help them increase their yields. He was a devout Christian, member of the Christian church at Tennille.

He is survived by his wife, one son, A. W. Smith, of Sandersville; two daughters, Mrs. J. N. Scott, of Tennille and Mrs. C. C. Cooper, of Sandersville; one sister, Mrs. Anna A. Feagin, of Tennille; four sons, A. W. Smith, of Macon; Jim P. Thomas, of Macon; Joe R. Smith, of Tennille; and a funeral service will be held at the home Tuesday afternoon with interment in Zeta cemetery at Tennille. All business houses kept in close with the state department of agriculture and had perfected a special variety of cotton seed that he sold to growers to help them increase their yields. He was a devout Christian, member of the Christian church at Tennille.

PICTURES OF WOODS TO BE SHOWN TODAY BY HOO-HOO CLUB

Moving pictures of the woods showing several scenes recently taken in Georgia and near Atlanta will be shown at the Ansley hotel at 8 o'clock tonight. The program being fostered by the Atlanta Hoo-Hoo club.

The public is invited and all who are interested in the beauties of the woods will find these pictures very instructive and educational. It was announced. The pictures will be shown in parts. "Duties of the Forest" and "From Seed to Sawmill."

Among the speakers on the program are J. A. Holloman, of the Georgia Game and Fish Commission, and Mr. Albert E. Thornton and Miss Alice Baxter of the Atlanta Women's Club. Dr. M. L. Brittain, of Georgia Tech, Miss Doris Hough, of the Girl Scouts, J. A. Jamison, of the Boy Scouts, and others.

It was announced that these pictures are the property of the club, and will be available to chambers of commerce, civic and business organizations in Georgia. They can contract for them through C. B. Harmon, treasurer of the Georgia Forestry association, in the Chandler building.

Gypsy Smith Revival At Carrollton Creates Much Religious Interest

Carrollton, Ga., April 28.—(Special.)—Much interest is manifest in the Gypsy Smith revival, which began the second week of the meeting, which will terminate on May 8. Carrollton built a large tabernacle for this meeting, which seats 2,500. On Sunday night the tabernacle was filled to capacity and fully 1,000 people stood around the service.

People were here from adjoining counties in attendance. Monday evening 50 people from LaGrange were in attendance, and by Tuesday, John Brown, the Masons of the county were guests Monday evening to hear Mr. Smith's sermon on "Jacob, the Trickster."

The women of the town conduct daily prayer meetings in their homes and beginning today the business men and women are attending the meetings at 11:30 a. m. in the Strand theater, while the business women of the town hold a prayer meeting in the trade board room.

Never before in the history of the county have our people been so stirred by the work of an evangelist. Associated with Gypsy Smith are Charlie Allen, singer, Mr. Clark, pianist, and Miss Webb, secretary and young people's worker.

Postal Department Lifts Ban on Harvard Magazines

Washington, April 28.—The mails were opened today to the two magazines published by Harvard university under the name of the Lamoon and the Advocate, which have created something of a sensation in Boston and were held up by the postmaster there because of containing some of their contents. The Lamoon, however, will bear the scars of censorship.

Acting Solicitor H. J. Donnelly, of the postoffice department, informed the Boston postmaster late today that he should not refuse to accept the magazines for mailing. He pointed out that the persons mailing them accepted full responsibility for any violation of the law involved. The acting solicitor made no ruling with reference to the magazines in connection with the criminal section of the law, explaining that any action along that line was the duty of the United States attorney for Massachusetts.

When the April 15 issue of the Lamoon appeared on news stands in Boston and Cambridge, it was weak police seized the copies. The Boston postmaster sent a copy to Washington with a request for an opinion as to whether it was available under the postal laws. The postoffice department ruled that it should be barred from the mailing privilege. Later, a censored copy was forwarded and today one of the publication's officials conferred with the solicitor. Further censoring of the publication was agreed upon, and with these specifications met, it will be admitted to the mails.

The April issue of the Advocate reached the solicitor today from the Boston postmaster with a request for an opinion as to whether it should be accepted for mailing. It was reviewed carefully and found to contain a few items of a profane and indecent nature, and having a tendency to corrupt the morals of youth and adults.

Advocate Is Suppressed. Boston, April 28.—The April number of the Harvard Advocate, which has attracted the attention of the postoffice department, today was suppressed by the Superintendent of Police Crowley after Judge Duff of the municipal court had ordered its suppression. The Advocate is charged for the number of times the ad appears and adjustments made at the rate.

EVOLUTION PROVED, DISCIPLES ARE TOLD COOLIDGE PLANNING TO CUT CAPITAL RENTS

Chicago, April 28.—One of the curious facts in reference to the current popular discussion of evolution. Professor John M. E. Ure, of the University of Chicago, told the congress of the Disciples of Christ today, is the confusion of evolution with Darwinism. As the result of demonstrations made well after Darwin's time, Dr. Coulter declared, "there is no longer any question as to the fact of evolution."

"Darwin's explanation," he declared, "is simply one of a number of explanations, most of which have been proposed since Darwin's time."

"It was not until the present century that a new method of studying evolution was developed. Plants and animals were produced under rigid control and were observed in the act of producing new species. It is safe to say, therefore, that the production of new species has been demonstrated repeatedly, so that there is no longer any question as to the fact of evolution."

He pointed out the fact of evolution that is today being tested by scientists, but the explanation of evolution. Attention should be called to the attitude of the scientific world, which is in sharp contrast with the attitude of those who now are attacking some of the results of scientific work. This also will explain why scientists seem now and then to contradict certain earlier conclusions of science. It is a prejudiced inquiry; it demands a real connection between an effect and a cause; it keeps one close to the facts.

"No scientific conclusion can be overturned by ignorant opposition, but only by further progress in scientific research."

Emory Glee Club Planning Foreign Tour Next Year

Washington, April 28.—(Special.)—Arrangements for the foreign tour of the Emory Glee Club, which will leave here Monday by J. A. Donnelly, of the club, with officials of the British, French and German embassies and the French minister. The club is being presented to these officials through Senator George, of Georgia.

Hombrowsky is going abroad in June to arrange details of the tour. No other glee club in this country, with the exception of that from Harvard, has ever made a tour of Europe. The club is being presented to these officials through Senator George, of Georgia.

Mrs. S. T. Hurst, Beloved Citizen of Fort Valley, Dies After Brief Illness

Fort Valley, Ga., April 28.—(Special.)—Mrs. S. T. Hurst, prominent and beloved young woman, died at an early hour today at a sanitarium in Macon, of meningitis, after an illness of several days.

Before her marriage she was Miss Julie Hunter, of Decatur, graduate of Agnes Scott college.

Residing here, she is survived by four children: Hunter and Sam and twins, John and John; three sisters, Mrs. Norman Pease, of Chambliss, Mrs. Albert Mendenhall, of Cal, and Miss Clifford Hunter, missionary in Shanghai, China.

Pending the arrival of Mrs. Hurst's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hunter, from California, funeral plans have not been completed, but the funeral will be held from the Baptist church, and interment will be in Perry.

Samuel Howland Dies in Europe

New York, April 28.—August Belmont & Co., today announced the receipt of a cablegram announcing the death last night in Montecarlo of Samuel S. Howland, racing man and sportsman, and brother-in-law of late Major August Belmont, the cablegram contained no details.

Fredora Belmont was Mrs. Howland's first wife. She died and he later married Miss L. M. Wallace, his present wife.

Hot Water Is All Right In Its Place, But—

There's no fun in being in it!

And Mrs. Conoley, Forrest avenue, was in hot water about renting her six-room apartment—until she thought of letting a Constitution ad find a tenant for her.

And then she broadcast the news to Atlanta that she had an attractive apartment, "with good hot water supply."

And that was the right place for the hot water—because within a few hours she had several replies to her ad and rented the apartment.

Carlsbad: Where Water Carved a Fairyland

Washington, D. C., April 25.—Rare cave "pearls," odd ornaments made by nature out of the same sort of Oriental alabaster as some of Tutankhamen's vases, and large photographs of the great cavern where they were found are features of an exhibit of Carlsbad caverns presented by the National Geographic society to the national museum.

The exhibit is mounted on the main floor of the museum, Washington. The pearls and coralline ornaments were brought back by the National Geographic society's expedition to Carlsbad cavern, which was led by Dr. Willis T. Lee. Exploration has established the cavern as one of the most marvelous in the world in its wealth of cave "furniture" and the immensity of its chambers. President Coolidge set it aside as a national monument and the national park service is now developing plans which will make its wonders as easily available to tourists as are the beauties of other American natural wonders; the keyers of Yellowstone, the Grand Canyon and the redwoods of California.

Stalactites, Young and Old. Typical stalactites, hanging in the same dense inverted forest of sprouts to be found in the cavern, depend in a cluster from the top of the cave. Some of these are young and some fairly old. The younger stalactites are ordinarily distinguished by a hollow tube through the center. In the cavern the explorers broke off the end of one of these brittle stalactites and thereupon had a faucet from which they secured drinking water.

The best cave "pearls" are truly spherical. They are gleaming white with a natural gloss. Carlsbad cavern is the only cave in the United States which is known to have these unique cave products. The largest spherical "pearls" are about an inch in diameter. Still larger "pearls," like the larger pearls of the sea, are misshapen. One in the exhibit is almost as large as a hen's egg.

Cave "pearls" are found in pools on the floors of certain chambers of Carlsbad cavern. These pools are formed by water heavily charged with calcium carbonate dropping from the ceiling. Fragments of stone fall into the pool and the dissolved rock in the water begins to form about these particles. The splash of the drop imparts a slight motion to the "seed pearl" keeping it from being fastened to the cave floor. Miniature Buddhas are inserted into oysters in China to make pearl Buddhas and in a like way cave "pearls" take on the shape of the original particle. It is a length of stalactite that grows a polished rock look for all the world like a pepper mint candy.

Water a Weaver and Moulder.

The exhibit lodged in the national museum for the inspection of the capital's thousands of visitors, shows the broad range of the work of water in the cave. Here water has made a war club, again it has woven the flimsiest stone lace. There are a number of pieces that might have come from the famed sea gardens of Bermuda. Agriculture is represented by a yellow limestone "cob of corn."

Some of the cave oddities afford puzzles which have proved too deep for the cave explorers themselves. For example, there is the problem of explaining why a stalactite growing regularly downward should suddenly turn at right angles, grow horizontal for a way and then return meekly to Newton's laws of gravitation again by doing another "salmon right."

There is a stalactite about four years of growth downward, start growing in a cone toward the ceiling? And how can a Gordian knot and a no satisfactory scientific explanation has been advanced for these peculiar contortions.

Rings Show Age. That stalactites and stalagmites, the limestone twins of caves, have rings showing annual growths just like trees, is revealed in cross sections cut, polished and on exhibition. There is a basis, but not as accurate a measure as found in trees, for calculating the age of the stone icicles, by counting the rings. In these circles are seen another possibility which is being probed, of determining the age of the Pueblo Bonito Indian dwellings excavated by the National Geographic society in the northern part of New Mexico.

By comparing the rings in logs found in old missions with logs in Pueblo Bonito ruins, it was hoped that data could be obtained for fixing the century in which this "cave house" resounded with the sound of voices. But a gap in the ring measurements.

Such Crabs!

Soft shell crabs, prepared the Silverman way—fried with butter—offer one of the tastiest delicacies to be found in all Atlanta.

Yet crabs are only one item on the Shore Dinner Menu—there are Maine Lobsters, Gulf shrimp, frog legs and fish.

Don't let the day go by without enjoying a Silverman Shore Dinner. You will be more than pleased!

Hawaii 'Falls' Before Attack Of U. S. Fleet

BY ARTHUR F. DEGREVE.

Honolulu, T. H., April 25.—As the chief and coordinating umpire prepare for a critique to determine exact centers in the part aviation played during the greatest war game ever attempted by land and sea forces of the world, the umpires will begin Friday and will continue for five days. The sessions will be secret.

Islands Captured.

While the Hawaiian islands were theoretically "captured" it is not generally believed that army and navy chiefs will make an exhaustive report regarding any special phase of the maneuvers. They are expected rather to deal in generalities with a view to remedying any defect which may have been shown to exist.

In view of Brigadier General William Mitchell's contention that America's air forces are inadequate, discussion of the war game just ended is largely upon the deficiencies connected with the engagements upon Molokai and Lanai Islands, and in the final successful enemy drive on Pearl Harbor.

A review of these exploits in the air shows that on April 25, patrol planes which had been vigilant for days, that he sighted the enemy's fighters and gave warning of the impending battle.

The same day "black," or defending bombers, had in the body of the counter with the destroyer Lawrence southeast of Diamond Head, "the Gibraltar of the Pacific."

Casualties Reported.

The third day of "war" was marked by intense aerial activities on both sides. Defenders and attackers suffered casualties from airplane raids.

The U. S. S. Langley, "blue" airplane carrier, was seen 60 miles southwest of Pearl Harbor, but umpires ruled that the thrust was unsuccessful. Monday a bombing expedition was sighted circling over the main body of the fleet, but umpires took no notice of the attempt to sink the battleships.

As the aircraft situation in the Hawaiian maneuvers stands at present, there has been no decision regarding effectiveness of combat planes, rulings again touching only upon value of aerial scouting and reconnaissance work.

BIG TRUCK RAMS TWO PARKED CARS; DRIVER ARRESTED

Golden Clark, of 221 Whitehall street, was arrested Tuesday by police on a charge of reckless driving after he ran into the parked automobiles of T. C. Nance, of North avenue, east of A. W. Brewster, 322 North avenue, east, with a floral truck he was driving, according to police.

Clark was approaching Jackson street while going east on North avenue, it is alleged, when his truck struck the automobile, and then, after averting and struck the other car.

BURGLARS SMASH BIG GLASS WINDOW IN SHELNUIT STORE

The store of J. B. Shelnut, at 33 South Broad street, was entered by thieves late Tuesday night, who smashed a plate glass window and escaped with a quantity of merchandise. The store was displayed in the window. Patrolman H. E. Vaughn discovered the broken window.

The home of Mrs. Thomas Kenley, of 352 Central avenue, was broken into by burglars Tuesday night and $25 in cash was taken from a small savings bank.

Two Youths Held Following Arrest With Big Auto Tire

William E. Townsend, 18, of 173 West Alexander street, and Grady M. Sanders, 18, of 88 East Ellis street, are being held by police on blanket charges of suspicion after being arrested Tuesday night at Courtland street and Edgewood avenue, in possession of one automobile tire of extra large size.

The boys were taken into custody by the "vice squad" composed of E. S. Acree, D. A. Davis, H. Newell, L. E. Busbee, L. D. Portwood and C. E. McCarty.

Townsend told the police that he saw two negro boys with the tire and the negroes hid it. He and Sanders then recovered it.

According to the police the two boys had latched on to a man who wanted to buy just such a size and make of tire.

YUMA EDITOR IS FREED

$250,000 Bond Is Made by His Friends.

Yuma, Ariz., April 25.—George W. Lynn, editor of the Yuma Evening Herald, was freed Tuesday night on a last-minute order of Justice H. S. Smith transferred the case to the superior court for trial by jury.

Counsel for Lynn declined the suggestion of the court that dismissal be made of the action, stating that Lynn wanted the right to prove his serious charges made editorially against E. F. Sangunetti, wealthy rancher, for which he had been arrested, charged with criminal libel.

Lynn walked out of the court a free man when sureties aggregating in wealth more than $250,000 signed his release bond. Scores clamoring to sign the bond were turned away.

LOYAL ORANGE LODGE LAUNCHES FUND DRIVE

With a musical entertainment and with a musical entertainment, the Loyal Orange institution will launch a drive Wednesday night for funds to provide for Atlanta's poor next Christmas. The entertainment will be held at the Red Men's wigwam.

The entertainment program is in charge of Fred Italsky, worthy deputy master. Mayor Walter Sims will be guest of honor and serve as chairman and toastmaster.

Honeymoon by Truck.

Lexington, Ky., April 25.—W. T. Barlow, 38, truck driver, asked to be relieved from duty for 20 minutes. In that 20 minutes he slipped off his overalls, which he wore over his "Sunday suit," met his bride-to-be at a magistrate's office, married her, took a short bridal trip in the truck, left his bride at her home and reported back to work before the time was up.

PITTSBURG PRISONERS COMING TO PEN HERE

Pittsburg, Pa., April 25.—Six men convicted a year ago on charges of illegal removal of whisky from the distillery of the A. Guckenheimer & Bros. company, surrendered to federal authorities today, preparatory to being sent to the Federal Reformatory for Women at Alderson, West Virginia. An appeal from the conviction was denied by the supreme court. The sentences imposed were: Lewis Brown and Louis Farkas, each fined $10,000 and sentenced to two years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga.; Edward C. Little and William J. Farkas, each fined $2,000 and sentenced to serve one year and a day at the Atlanta penitentiary; William J. Farkas, sentenced to two years in the Atlanta penitentiary; George Beck, sentenced to six months in the Allegheny county jail.

Five of the men will be sent to the Atlanta penitentiary tomorrow.

CORONER'S PROBE OF POISON DEATHS TO END THURSDAY

Chicago, April 25.—The official deaths of William N. McClintock, "millionaire orphan," his mother, Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, and his son, McClintock family physician, today was set for Thursday. At that time the jurors are expected to return verdicts.

The coroner's chemist has reported that McClintock had died of typhoid fever. William D. Shepherd, the youth's foster-father, has been indicted on the charge that he administered to him a dose of typhoid inoculation and his trial has been set for May 18. Poison in sufficient quantities to cause death within ten days was found in the body of Mrs. McClintock, the chemist said. He failed to find poison in Dr. Olson's body.

The state's attorney's office today began giving its evidence for Shepherd's trial.

Assistant State's Attorney Joseph P. Savage was to take two additional witnesses before the grand jury today.

Potsdam, April 25.—The marriage of Matthew E. Hanna, of New York, first secretary of the American embassy in Berlin, and Baroness Guntra von Dertmann, took place this evening at the home of the bride, only the immediate relatives and members of the American embassy staff being present.

AIR PASSENGER SERVICE WILL JOIN FOUR CITIES

Kansas City, April 25.—Six 5-passenger airplanes will be put into regular service soon between here and St. Louis, Omaha, Tulsa and Wichita, Kan. The project of the Lincoln Standard Aircraft corporation, of Lincoln, Neb., announced today that his organization has closed a deal with the Kansas City Airways corporation for the lines.

Prepare for Ship Sale.

Washington, April 25.—Counsel for the shipping board, in conference today with the Dollar Lines, put finishing touches on the contract for sale of the five vessels of the California line to the Dollar interests. Actual delivery of the ships, now operated for the board by the Pacific Mail company, is expected to begin at San Francisco early next month.

RHINOCEROS TAKES FULL CHARGE OF SHIP

Norfolk, Va., April 25.—Breaking from his pen on the forward deck, a rhinoceros en route from Africa to a Philadelphia zoo, took full possession of the American steamer Wytheville at a local pier this afternoon sending members of the crew and stevedores pell-mell to the rigging. After a hour and a half during which the lumbering beast held full sway, wrecking hatch coverings and other objects, the ship's quartermaster managed to climb onto a cargo boom and drop a lasso around the animal's head.

In addition to the rhinoceros the Wytheville has aboard 117 Angora goats, valued at $500 each which will be landed at New York and sent to Texas and Oregon to be used as breeding stock in the Mohair industry. They are the first animals of the species to be brought out of Africa in 19 years. British laws having previously prohibited their shipment as a protection to the home Mohair industry.
